Racer From Texas Wins Classic At Indianapolis

Foyt Makes Distance At Near-Record Speed

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A. J. Foyt, a demon driver from Houston, Tex., won the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race for the first time today when his luck switched from bad to good in less than 20 laps.

Foyt traveled the distance at a near-record speed, but it looked like he had lost the race to runnerup Eddie Sachs when he had to make an unusual fourth pit stop for fuel with only 16 laps to go. Sachs took charge and apparently was headed for triumph, when suddenly he too had to stop for tires and fuel only three laps, 7½ miles, away from the finish line.

The unofficial speed was 138.466 miles per hour, only three-tenths of a mile per hour slower than the record of 138.767 set by Jim Rathman last year.

It wan the fourth time that Foyt, 26, who won the national championship last year, had competed in the 500, and he was very much in contention all the way in the second fastest race every run.

WEATHER GOOD

The weather was near perfect, temperatures from 60 to 70 degrees, the wind was slight, and the crowd probably was a record.

It was believed well in excess of 200,000.

The field, led by Jim Hurtubise, ran at phenomenal record speed for 55 laps before a spectacular five-car pileup at the foot of the home stretch, within view of 125,000 spectators, gave the crowd a tremendous thrill.

But all five drivers involved walked away from the mixup with minor bruises, and the race, after 25 minutes and 12 seconds under the caution "slow down" yellow light, quickly got back to a speed record after 275 miles.

HELD TO FIRST

Only three drivers, Foyt, Sachs and the 1959 victor Roger Ward, held first place in the last 250 miles, and most of the time Foyt and Sachs were dueling.

Foyt, though, apparently had the triumph wrapped up after his third pit stop, with 40 laps to go but a malfunction of the system pumping fuel into his car prevented him from getting a full tank.

Thus with 16 laps to go, and boasting a lead of less than five seconds on Sachs, he had to pause for 15 seconds to take on gas. Meanwhile, Sachs moved in front and boosted his margin to 30 seconds.

ORDER OF RUN

After Foyt came Sachs, Ward, Shorty Templeman, Al Keller, Chuck Stevenson, Bobby Marshman, Lloyd Ruby, Jack Brabham, Norman Hall, Gene Hartley and Parnelli Jones in that order.

Foyt had whittled it down, but Sachs still was comfortably ahead when he gambled that he could get tires and fuel and get back on the track before Foyt could come around again.

He lost his bet, taking 24 seconds in the pits.

Only 12 cars were running at the finish of the chase, tying the second lowest number in the modern history of the event.

GIANT RALLY FALLS SHORT BY ONE RUN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants dropped the first game of their Memorial Day holiday doubleheader with the Cincinatti Reds 7-6 here today in Candlestick Park as a fantastic ninth inning rally sparked by homers by Hobie Landrith, Chuck Hiller and Willie Mays, fell short.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Baseball fans smashed windows on two ticket booths at Candlestick Park today in efforts to see the Cincinnati-San Francisco doubleheader.

No one was injured but ticket sales were halted until the disturbance quieted.

Police said between 8,000 and 10,000 persons stormed the entrance gates after 6,400 unreserved seats went on sale.

Nation Pays Tribute To War Dead

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

At the tomb of the unknowns in Washington and in cemeteries across the country, the nation paid tribute to its war dead on Memorial Day today.

There was a springtime sparkle in the air over much of the nation for the first big holiday outing of the season. Families picnicked, drove to beaches or double header baseball games, or lined main streets across the land to watch holiday parades.

The real meaning of Memorial Day was symbolized at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington.

WREATH PLACED

There Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia placed a wreath of flowers on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldiers. In the center of the circlet of red and white carnations and violet orchids was a small, white card inscribed with the words "The President."

President John F. Kennedy had asked Russell to perform the traditional act of homage to the war dead. The president was at his summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., catching a few hours' extra rest before flying to a meeting with heads of state in Europe.

At the home of another president, United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson paid tribute to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the ideal of world peace.

AT FDR's GRAVE

Stevenson, speaking at Roosevelt's grave near his Hyde Park, N.Y., home, said the wartime president would have regarded the United Nations as "his greatest monument."

The holiday peace was marred by a growing tragedy on the highways.

The total of holiday traffic deaths since 6 p.m. Friday passed 400 and the National Safety Council feared the toll by the holiday's close at midnight would amount to 500. This would be a record for summertime holiday traffic deaths.

62 Believed Dead In Lisbon Jetliner Crash

LIBSON (UPI)—A DC-8 jetliner with 62 persons aboard crashed into the sea today four minutes after taking off from Lisbon airport on a flight to Caracas, Venezuela.

Portuguese police said the plane went down off a wide stretch of beach near the resort village of Caparica.

There was no sign of survivors. No United States residents were aboard the big plane which took off in a heavy rain storm.

Inhabitants of the town of Tagus reported hearing an explosion at the time of the crash, and there was speculation that the airliner might have blown up in flight.

Rescue teams at the site reported finding a woman's body, two women's shoes and twisted bits of aircraft wreckage.

Helicopter crews flying over the sea reported bodies were being washed ashore on the beach near Caparica on the south bank of the Tagus River.

The plane had been chartered to the Venezuelan Viasa Co. by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines. It was bound from Rome to Caracas, Venezuela. No residents of the United States were aboard.

Train 'Freedom Riders' Arrested In Jackson

Police Capt. J. L. Ray ordered the four whites and four Negroes to move on when they entered the waiting room. Each time he told them they moved a few feet and stopped.

'MOVE ON'

When they stopped at the exit door, he again told them to move on, "out of the station."

They refused and he ordered them arrested.

Four minutes after they descended the stairs leading from the elevated tracks they were on their way to the jail.

The group, which arrived from New Orleans on the crack streamliner City of New Orleans, were arrested on breach of peace charges. The group included four whites, two Negro youths and two Negro women.

AT WAITING ROOM

As the group crossed the waiting room, Capt. Ray told them to "move on." They continued to move across the waiting room and he told them "move out." They stopped and began talking to officers.

"All of you are under arrest for refusing to obey my order," Ray said.

Richard Davis, a Negro writer from Florence, S.C., asked, "Your orders to move out immediately?"

Ray said nothing and Davis asked why they were under arrest.

Ray said, "For breach of the peace."

Richard Haley, field director in Jackson for the Congress on Racial Equality, said there was no particular reason for using the train instead of the bus.

"It was purely a matter of local choice," he said. He noted that while trains are desegregated, the Jackson train depot is segregated.

"So far the emphasis has been on bus depots, to the exclusion of train depots," Haley said. "We want to give them all a fair shake."

Asked if he expected the Freedom Riders to be arrested when they reached Jackson and tested the segregation laws, Haley said "we have no reason to believe there's been a change of policy by the Jackson police."

Soviets Honor Ike's Dr. White

MOSCOW (UPI)—Boston heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White, the man who treated former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been elected to membership in the Soviet Academy of Medical Sciences, the Soviet Tass news agency said today.

Tass said White and six other foreign scientists were elected at the 15th session of the academy's general meeting which ended here today.

Bill Speeding Absentee Vote Count Approved

SACRAMENTO-(AP)—The California Legislature today completed enactment of a bill designed to speed the absentee vote count in state elections.

Majority Democrats won 42-27 Assembly approval of Senate amendments to the bill by Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles) who was President John F. Kennedy's Southern California campaign manager.

The bill, sent to Gov. Edmund G. Brown for his certain signature, requires absentee ballots to be returned to county clerks three days before election day. The present law allows six days.

Sponsors pushed the change in an effort to avoid a repetition of the long delay in detemining whether Kennedy or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried California last November. The absentees swung the state to Nixon.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen, (R-Los Gatos), protested that the bill is designed to eliminate a large bloc of votes.

"It's to try and help the governor win the next election," he said. "It's a pure power play."

Gate Bridge Transit Bill Turned Down

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Without hearing either debate or a vote, the chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee today turned down legislation to remodel the Golden Gate Bridge for rapid transit trains.

The ruling by Sen. Randolph Collier (D-Yreka), sent the bill by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer (D-San Francisco) to two-year study.

Though no vote was taken, it was done in the name of the committee.

Collier indicated the same fate awaited an Assembly-approved measure to create a Golden Gate Transportation Commission.

His committee earlier shelved the Senate version of the bill, which Collier opposed.

McAteer's bill proposed spending up to 18 million dollars from surplus bridge tolls to provide facilities for the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Construction would have depended upon approval of a bond issue by district voters.

Mt. Barnaby Lookout Found Dead From Fall

Paul W. Hogancamp, 52, county fire lookout at Mt. Barnaby above Camp Taylor, died today, apparently from an accidental fall down the stairs.

His body was found at the bottom of the lookout stairs about 11 o'clock this morning by County Fireman Art McKay, who is the lookout at Mt. Tamalpais.

Hogancamp, who has a wife and family at 625 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, had been a county fireman since June 1, 1945. Coroner Frank J. Keaton this morning was investigating the cause of death.

County firemen said the victim was wearing carpenter's aprons and may have been working at the head of the stairs when he fell. He was alone at Mt. Barnaby lookout at the time. McKay, while making the rounds checking telephone lines, found the body.

BIRTHDAY SPEECH—President John F. Kennedy gestures as he speaks at a hundred-dollar-a-plate birthday dinner held last night in his honor in Boston. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy 'Won't Retreat' As Freedom Spokesman

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy leaves for Europe on this day of dedication to victims of war with the vow to retreat not one inch as a spokesman for freedom.

Kennedy flies to Paris tonight for conferences with President Charles de Gaulle of France and, beginning Saturday in Vienna, with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

On his 44th birthday, Kennedy declared last night that "serious miscalculations, serious misapprehensions" on the part of the adversaries led to the three wars fought in his lifetime.

Looking toward his talks with Khrushchev, Kennedy indicated he hoped to erase any such miscalculations at this time of dispute between great powers.

Kennedy spoke amid cheers at a gala political-personal birthday celebration in his home town of Boston.

He said he goes to Europe as "leader of the greatest revolutionary country on earth."

Americans believe in freedom and always intend to be associated with that cause, he said. He quoted as personal doctrine this message carved on a Boston statue of William Lloyd Garrison, famous New England abolitionist:

"I am in earnest, I will not equivocate, I will not excuse, I will not retreat a single inch, and I will be heard."

Kennedy's speech drew lusty applause from the crowd of at least 5,000 that filled Boston's Commonwealth Armory for a dinner to celebrate the birthday of the youngest man ever elected president. The $100-a-plate banquet also was intended to raise funds for the party.

A Kennedy aide said the proceeds of $500,000 added to income from a similar function in Washington last Saturday, reduced the Democratic debt to just under one million dollars.

Kennedy flew back to Hyannis Port after the banquet to spend his last quiet night before taking off for Paris. He is scheduled to hop to New York this afternoon for an hour's conference with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel.

In the evening Kennedy addresses a dinner of the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation at the Waldorf Astoria.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been resting at their Middleburg, Va., estate joins him at Idlewild International Airport, and they are due to take off for Paris at 10 p.m.

Louvre Art Out For Mrs. Kennedy

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle made another gallant gesture to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy today by ordering several masterpieces from the Louvre hung in the apartments she and her husband, President Kennedy, will occupy in the Quai D'Orsay.

Mrs. Kennedy wrote Mrs. James Gavin, wife of the American ambassador, that she had hoped her heavy official schedule would permit her enough free time to visit one or more museums.

This, it appears, may not be possible in the tightly packed three-day visit. But America's first lady will not want for beauty. In her elegant rooms at the foreign ministry the Louvre has placed such famous paintings as Renoir's La Balencoire (the swing).

There is also a gold framed painting by Nicolas Lancret called "La Lecon de Musique" (the music lesson), depicting two young girls alongside their mother at a piano, and two fine paintings by Chardin among other art treasures.

President de Gaulle is believed to have inspired a charming alteration in the usual route of bringing dignitaries from Orly airport to the center of the city. President John F. Kennedy and his wife will be taken instead along the Boulevard St. Michel where Mrs. Kennedy used to wander when she was a student here 10 years ago.

The little town of Pont St. Esprit in the Rhone Valley where many bearing the name Bouvier claim kinship with Mrs. Kennedy was in mourning today for Danielle Bouvier, 19, who was killed in an automobile accident yesterday while enroute here to try to see her American "cousin."

Her father, Marcel Bouvier, was reported recovering at a hospital. Two journalists who were driving them to Paris are also in the hospital.

REPORT OF BEATING

Freedom Riders Use Train For 1st Time

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new wave of "freedom riders" moved out of New Orleans by train—the first of the riders to use the train — today in another assault in Mississippi segregation laws.

The group left on the Illinois Central streamliner "City of New Orleans."

There was no explanation why this group of freedom riders, the first to move into Mississippi from a southern route, decided to take to the railroads. All other freedom riders have traveled by bus.

There were eight freedom riders reported aboard the streamliner, one of the world's fastest trains. The route takes them through southeast Louisiana and southern Mississippi.

Dr. Walter Bergman, a former professsor at Michigan State University and conductor of Monday's "workshop" in New Orleans to train freedom riders, said earlier he expected them to be arrested when they reached Jackson.

In a surprise move late last night, Hinds County Sheriff J. R. Gilfoy shifted 19 convicted freedom riders from the county penal farm to the downtown county jail.

Gilfoy said other prisoners protested the presence of the freedom riders and refused to associate with them. There are 25 whites and more than 100 Negroes at the farm, the sheriff said.

The sheriff's action came on the heels of the reported beating of the Rev. C. T. Vigian, 36, Chattanooga, Tenn., by a penal farm guard. The Negro minister, wearing a small bandage, was one of those moved.

It was the first report of violence in Mississippi in connection with the freedom riders.

Gov. Ross Barnett launched an investigation into the incident and FBI agents quizzed the penal farm director and others.

W. Wade Bromwell, special agent in charge of the New Orleans area FBI office, said Asst. U.S. Atty. Burje Marshall requested a probe.

Vivian and the 18 others chose confinement at the prison farm rather than pay the $200 fines assessed last Friday when they were convicted on breach of peace charges stemming from their use of for-white-only facilities at a cross-country bus terminal. Eight others posted appeal bonds or paid fines.

Vivian was said to have been clubbed because he failed to address a prison guard as "sir."

Penal farm director Max Thomas said the minister refused to cooperate.

After moving the 19 back to the county jail, where they joined 17 other freedom riders convicted yesterday on the same charge, Gilfoy said, "They'll stay here until they pay their fines or post appeal bonds."

The second group of riders were convicted after a speedy trial and they drew the same fines and sentences as given the first group. City Judge James Spencer suspended the 60-day jail sentences each time.

None of the second group said they would apeal the conviction. They remained in jail overnight without paying the fines.

Judge Spencer again stressed the riders were tried for breach of peace and not for violating Mississippi segregation laws.

In a news conference, Barnett comemnded Mississipp Negroes for refusing to aid the freedom riders.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to promulgate nationwide rules outlawing racial segregation in interstate bus transportation.

At Anniston, Ala., two men arrested in the burning of a freedom rider bus were bound over to a federal grand jury.

Witness Tells How Police Watched Mob

MONTGOMERY, Ala., (AP)—A white witness told a federal judge yesterday a white mob called him a "nigger lover" when he and his wife protested the beating of a Negro during a race riot at a bus station here May 20.

The witness, Fred Gach, 32, a former paratrooper and now a student at Auburn University, said he earlier had asked three Montgomery policemen to stop the mob from beating a Negro "Freedom Rider" but was told each time: "Get away from here."

STORIES OF VIOLENCE

The testimony, and other stories of bloody violence, came during a hearing on the Justice Department's demand for an injunction to require the police departments of Montgomery and Birmingham to protect in the future any Freedom Riders or other interstate passengers.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. also is to decide whether to make permanent an injunction already in effect against the Ku Klux Klan.

The government contends that the KKK was responsible for racial violence in Montgomery, Birmingham and Anniston and that Montgomery and Birmingham police permitted the rioting to start.

Gov. John Patterson lifted the martial law that was imposed on Montgomery following the rioting at the bus station.

FORCES AVAILABLE

In returning the city to civil rule at midnight, Patterson said that while National Guardsmen are gone from the streets, state forces still are available in reinforced numbers to "assist local police units whenever they request help from state forces."

Most of the first day's testimony concerned the trouble in Montgomery and, except on cross-examination, the Klan was not mentioned. Attorneys for the Klan asked almost every witness if they saw any Klansmen among the fighters and the answer invariably was that witness knew no Klansmen by sight.

He said the "hopeful sign" would be Moscow's approval for the 14-nation conference to send the new orders requested by its ceasefire truce commission in Laos.

Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy appears to be gaining ground in his support of the tractors-for-prisoners trade with Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba. Congressional opinion, however remains predominately critical.

Kennedy has picked up the backing of an influential Republican, Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

Cooper told the Senate yesterday he agrees with critics who have contended that the Cuban prime minister is trying to blackmail the United States. But he said the United States has a responsibility for the 1,200 prisoners because of its support of the ill-fated invasion.

"Without our help, I see no opportunity that they will be released," he said.

Million-Dollar Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedienne Joan Davis' one-million-dollar estate has been placed under the administration of her daughter, Beverly Wills, 27.

The daughter's petition was granted yesterday because Miss Davis had left no will. She died May 23 of a heart attack at her Palm Springs home.

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France (UPI)—Talks between France and the Algerian rebels have hit a snag on the issue of political guarantees for the European settlers of Algeria, sources close to the French delegation said today.

Financier Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — International financier Herman W. Brann, 49, was arrested yesterday on a charge of alleged stock manipulation in violation of the Securities and Exchange Act.

Brann, a U.S. citizen who has lived abroad since 1946, was arrested by a U.S. marshal when he arrived aboard the liner Vulcania with his wife and two children.

He was charged with illegal stock dealings to create misleading market activity in the common stock of the United Dye and Chemical Corp.

Teeners Kill Man

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 76-year-old man was beaten and fatally shot last night by four teenagers who trapped him in an elevator of a lower Eastside apartment building.

The youths took their victim's wallet, which contained $3, authorities said.

Seven Die In Fire

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A mother and six of her children died last night when they were trapped in their third floor apartment by a fire.

At least 13 other persons were injured, police reported. They included an expectant mother, Mrs. Patti Francis, who leaped from an upper floor clutching her year-old son, Kenneth.

Officials said the fire started in an unoccupied apartment on the first floor of the three-story building.

MIAMI (UPI) — Fidel Castro's government today showed signs of increasing concern over food shortages and renewed anti-Castro sabotage in Cuba.

Havana Radio last night warned housewives that hoarding is a "counter-revolutionary act." A conviction for counter-revolutionary activities can result in the death penalty.

The radio blamed current shortages in Cuba as due primarily to "the criminal blockade by Yankee imperialism" and hoarding.

BIRTHDAY SPEECH—President John F. Kennedy gestures as he speaks at a hundred-dollar-a-plate birthday dinner held last night in his honor in Boston. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy 'Won't Retreat' As Freedom Spokesman

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy leaves for Europe on this day of dedication to victims of war with the vow to retreat not one inch as a spokesman for freedom.

Kennedy flies to Paris tonight for conferences with President Charles de Gaulle of France and, beginning Saturday in Vienna, with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

On his 44th birthday, Kennedy declared last night that "serious miscalculations, serious misapprehensions" on the part of the adversaries led to the three wars fought in his lifetime.

Looking toward his talks with Khrushchev, Kennedy indicated he hoped to erase any such miscalculations at this time of dispute between great powers.

Kennedy spoke amid cheers at a gala political-personal birthday celebration in his home town of Boston.

He said he goes to Europe as "leader of the greatest revolutionary country on earth."

Americans believe in freedom and always intend to be associated with that cause, he said. He quoted as personal doctrine this message carved on a Boston statue of William Lloyd Garrison, famous New England abolitionist:

"I am in earnest, I will not equivocate, I will not excuse, I will not retreat a single inch, and I will be heard."

Kennedy's speech drew lusty applause from the crowd of at least 5,000 that filled Boston's Commonwealth Armory for a dinner to celebrate the birthday of the youngest man ever elected president. The $100-a-plate banquet also was intended to raise funds for the party.

A Kennedy aide said the proceeds of $500,000 added to income from a similar function in Washington last Saturday, reduced the Democratic debt to just under one million dollars.

Kennedy flew back to Hyannis Port after the banquet to spend his last quiet night before taking off for Paris. He is scheduled to hop to New York this afternoon for an hour's conference with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel.

In the evening Kennedy addresses a dinner of the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation at the Waldorf Astoria.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been resting at their Middleburg, Va., estate joins him at Idlewild International Airport, and they are due to take off for Paris at 10 p.m.

Louvre Art Out For Mrs. Kennedy

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle made another gallant gesture to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy today by ordering several masterpieces from the Louvre hung in the apartments she and her husband, President Kennedy, will occupy in the Quai D'Orsay.

Mrs. Kennedy wrote Mrs. James Gavin, wife of the American ambassador, that she had hoped her heavy official schedule would permit her enough free time to visit one or more museums.

This, it appears, may not be possible in the tightly packed three-day visit. But America's first lady will not want for beauty. In her elegant rooms at the foreign ministry the Louvre has placed such famous paintings as Renoir's La Balencoire (the swing).

There is also a gold framed painting by Nicolas Lancret called "La Lecon de Musique" (the music lesson), depicting two young girls alongside their mother at a piano, and two fine paintings by Chardin among other art treasures.

President de Gaulle is believed to have inspired a charming alteration in the usual route of bringing dignitaries from Orly airport to the center of the city. President John F. Kennedy and his wife will be taken instead along the Boulevard St. Michel where Mrs. Kennedy used to wander when she was a student here 10 years ago.

The little town of Pont St. Esprit in the Rhone Valley where many bearing the name Bouvier claim kinship with Mrs. Kennedy was in mourning today for Danielle Bouvier, 19, who was killed in an automobile accident yesterday while enroute here to try to see her American "cousin."

Her father, Marcel Bouvier, was reported recovering at a hospital. Two journalists who were driving them to Paris are also in the hospital.

REPORT OF BEATING

Freedom Riders Use Train For 1st Time

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new wave of "freedom riders" moved out of New Orleans by train—the first of the riders to use the train — today in another assault in Mississippi segregation laws.

The group left on the Illinois Central streamliner "City of New Orleans."

There was no explanation why this group of freedom riders, the first to move into Mississippi from a southern route, decided to take to the railroads. All other freedom riders have traveled by bus.

There were eight freedom riders reported aboard the streamliner, one of the world's fastest trains. The route takes them through southeast Louisiana and southern Mississippi.

Dr. Walter Bergman, a former professsor at Michigan State University and conductor of Monday's "workshop" in New Orleans to train freedom riders, said earlier he expected them to be arrested when they reached Jackson.

In a surprise move late last night, Hinds County Sheriff J. R. Gilfoy shifted 19 convicted freedom riders from the county penal farm to the downtown county jail.

Gilfoy said other prisoners protested the presence of the freedom riders and refused to associate with them. There are 25 whites and more than 100 Negroes at the farm, the sheriff said.

The sheriff's action came on the heels of the reported beating of the Rev. C. T. Vigian, 36, Chattanooga, Tenn., by a penal farm guard. The Negro minister, wearing a small bandage, was one of those moved.

It was the first report of violence in Mississippi in connection with the freedom riders.

Gov. Ross Barnett launched an investigation into the incident and FBI agents quizzed the penal farm director and others.

W. Wade Bromwell, special agent in charge of the New Orleans area FBI office, said Asst. U.S. Atty. Burje Marshall requested a probe.

Vivian and the 18 others chose confinement at the prison farm rather than pay the $200 fines assessed last Friday when they were convicted on breach of peace charges stemming from their use of for-white-only facilities at a cross-country bus terminal. Eight others posted appeal bonds or paid fines.

Vivian was said to have been clubbed because he failed to address a prison guard as "sir."

Penal farm director Max Thomas said the minister refused to cooperate.

After moving the 19 back to the county jail, where they joined 17 other freedom riders convicted yesterday on the same charge, Gilfoy said, "They'll stay here until they pay their fines or post appeal bonds."

The second group of riders were convicted after a speedy trial and they drew the same fines and sentences as given the first group. City Judge James Spencer suspended the 60-day jail sentences each time.

None of the second group said they would appeal the conviction. They remained in jail overnight without paying the fines.

Judge Spencer again stressed the riders were tried for breach of peace and not for violating Mississippi segregation laws.

In a news conference, Barnett comemnded Mississipp Negroes for refusing to aid the freedom riders.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to promulgate nationwide rules outlawing racial segregation in interstate bus transportation.

At Anniston, Ala., two men arrested in the burning of a freedom rider bus were bound over to a federal grand jury.

Dag Defends Position Of U.N. Executive

OXFORD, England (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold declared today that world peace may be endangered if the United Nations rejects the principle of an international secretariat directed by a truly independent chief executive.

The U.N. secretary-general now under attack by the Communist nations, outlined his stand at Oxford University, where he was awarded an honorary degree as doctor of civil laws.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has proposed that Hammarskjold be replaced by a three-man U.N. executive representing the Communist, neutral and Western nations.

Now, even in Western circles, Hammarskjold asserted, it is being said that the United Nations might have to switch from an international secretariat "to an intergovernmental secretariat, the members of which obviously would not be supposed to work in the direction of an internationalism considered unpaltable to their governments."

He said such a concept, if accepted by U.N. member nations, might "well prove to be the Munich of international cooperation as conceived after the First World War and further developed under the impression of the tragedy of World War II.

"To abandon or to compromise with principles on which such cooperation is built may be at no less dangerous than to compromise with principles regarding the rights of a nation. In both cases the price to be paid may be peace."

League Agrees Constitution Needs Amending

The League of Women Voters of Mill Valley is among 64 leagues in the state agreeing that the frequently amended 80-year-old California Constitution is in need of review, according to Mrs. John Pike Oliver, Mill Valley League president.

Mrs. Oliver said Marin members of the League planned to write their assemblymen and senator urging passage of a bill providing for a review commission.

Marin-Sonoma Assemblyman William T. Bagley is among authors of the bill.

League members urge other citizens to write favoring the bill, Mrs. Oliver said.

Windows, Lights Broken At School

Several windows and lights were broken out at the Greenbrae School at 74 Elisio Drive, Greenbrae, Principal Kenneth Preble reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

A large window in the multi purpose room, three flood lights, four lights in the corridors, a glass on the bulletin board, and a window in a classroom were all broken by BB shots and rocks, Preble reported.

Ballet Aquacade Rehearsal Tomorrow

The Marin County Ballet Aquacade dress rehearsal will be held tomorrow afternoon instead of on Friday as previously announced.

Dag Defends Position Of U.N. Executive

OXFORD, England (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold declared today that world peace may be endangered if the United Nations rejects the principle of an international secretariat directed by a truly independent chief executive.

The U.N. secretary-general now under attack by the Communist nations, outlined his stand at Oxford University, where he was awarded an honorary degree as doctor of civil laws.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has proposed that Hammarskjold be replaced by a three-man U.N. executive representing the Communist, neutral and Western nations.

Now, even in Western circles, Hammarskjold asserted, it is being said that the United Nations might have to switch from an international secretariat "to an intergovernmental secretariat, the members of which obviously would not be supposed to work in the direction of an internationalism considered unpaltable to their governments."

He said such a concept, if accepted by U.N. member nations, might "well prove to be the Munich of international cooperation as conceived after the First World War and further developed under the impression of the tragedy of World War II.

"To abandon or to compromise with principles on which such cooperation is built may be at no less dangerous than to compromise with principles regarding the rights of a nation. In both cases the price to be paid may be peace."

SOMETHING ADDED—It's the same Chateau Resturant that has been a landmark on the Redwood Highway at Lucas Valley Road for 26 years but it will now be known as Franchini's Chateau and undergo further remodeling. New owner Roy G. Franchini will stage a grand opening celebration tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

Colored Rod Math Teaching Is Approved

Two parents turned out for a meeting last night at which trustees of the San Jose School District approved a new mathematics teaching method and discussed seventh-eighth grade teaching program.

Trustees approved a math program which, from kindergarten through the second grade, will use "rods" with other methods to help students learn "basic concepts" of mathematics.

The colored rods are small pieces of wood of various sizes representing number's. Youngsters can see and feel number relationships.

Trustees also approved the use of Scott, Foresman texts along with state texts in math classes. The newly approved book uses a different approach to teaching arithmetic, including relating ratios to percentages and an estimation method of division.

The different teaching methods have been studied for two years in the district and used experimentally in some classrooms. Using the new methods, "the average child will be more advanced" in mathematics, Joseph Mouille, principal of Lynwood School, explained.

Trustees also set the June 12 meeting for a full report and possible decision on teaching organization in seventh and eighth grade classes.

Informal discussion brought out that trustees and teachers at the meeting last night apparently favor in approach somewhere between a departmentalized school versus a method in which one teacher works with one class all day.

Marin Art Work On View In Hotel

A painting by Winifred Koch, San Rafael artist, is among 20 selected art pieces currently on display in the art gallery of the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

The paintings were selected from the annual spring exhibit of the Society of Western Artists, held at the deYoung Museum in San Francisco.

The Jack Tar Hotel exhibit will continue for at least two months.

Franchini's Celebrates Opening Of Restaurant

Franchini's Chateau Restaurant on the Redwood Highway at Lucas Valley Road will celebrate its grand opening tomor, Thursday and Friday.

Roy G. Franchini of Fairfax, who purchased the former Le Chateau from Cliff Cox about a month ago, has entered the second phase of a Marin County restaurant career which started when he took over the West End Villa in San Rafael in April, 1960. He was previously a resident of San Mateo County and has studied restaurant management at San Francisco City College under Larry Wong.

He will be assisted at both restaurants by his father, Roy J. Franchini, as food manager. Franchini Sr. was formerly a member of the firm of G. Franchini and Sons, operators of the meat department at Home Market in San Anselmo. He has recently sold his interest in that business to his brothers William F. and Robert G. Franchini.

The Redwood Highway restaurant was operate by Cliff Cox of Novato for 26 years. A portion of the building is believed to be about 90 years old.

Early in its history the Chateau property was used for excavating clay for brickmaking. After striking a live spring which filled up the excavation, the project was abandoned. Cox used the excavation as a lake for ducks and swans and as a feeding ground for two pet deer.

Franchini said he expects to landscape the property and make decorative changes in the restauarnt but it will be a long-term project.

In addition to the restaurant building there are nine motel units and two other structures on the land. These, too, will be remodeled, Franchini said.

Recently added to the staff as head chef is Jim Davison, previously at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon. Davison was trained in England, Scotland and Canada as a hotel and resort chef. He will specialize in continental type meals.

The restaurant will continue its previous policy of closing on Tuesdays. Lunches will be served from noon to 4 p.m. during the week, with dinners from 4 to 10:30 p.m., extended to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

A Sunday brunch will be served from 9:15 p.m. to 3 p.m. and Sunday dinners from 3 to 10 p.m.

Felons' Music To Be Played At Quentin Festival

Compositions of San Quentin Prison musicians will be presented before three judges when the seventh annual Music Festival begins Saturday in the Band Room in the prison.

Dr. Thomas P. Candell of Candell Conservatory of Music, Thompson Chesnut of College of Marin, and Phil Bovero, San Francisco musician, will judge the 33 entries in the festival.

The top three winners in various categories will divide $100 in prizes. The categories are jazz and experimental forms, religious music, folk music and lyrics, arranging and miscellaneous forms.

Winning compositions will be presented to the prison inmates June 10.

Sausalito Future Meetings Planned

The second of three meetings on the "Future of Sausalito" will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the IDESST Hall in Sausalito, co-sponsored by the Sausalito Citizens Council and the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Speakers will include Rob Rose on "Land Development," Luther W. Conover, "Retail Selling to Tourists," Harold Puharich, "Retail Services for Residents," Ruth Sisson, "As A Homemaker" and Charles Ritzinger, "Real Estate Values."

A question and answer period will be held after the talks to be followed by refreshments served by the Sausalito Woman's Club. The third meeting will be held June 15.

Shakespeare Fans Welcome To Picnic

Shakespeare fans, interested in picnicking at rehearsals of the Marin Shakespeare festival's "A Midsummer-Night's Dream" on Sundays at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, are invited to do so, publicity director W. S. Lowden said today.

The public, Lowden said, is invited to picnic between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. when the cast lunches at the outdoor ampitheater and also invited to attend rehearsals between 1:30 and 4 p.m.

Festival director John Brebner of Sausalito has selected the following cast from more than 70 auditioners from Marin County, San Francisco and the East Bay:

Clifford Potter as Thesus, Duke of Athens; Vickie Sahagian as Hippolyta; H. Jackson De Govia, Ronald Reese, Sue Steinmetz and Norma Lietiko as the four young lovers. Egeus, a rich lord of Athens, will be played by Harry Oltmans.

Bill Murray as Bottom; Dennis Percy, Tony Gladstein, Larry Allen, William Pritz and Brian Rowlands as Bottom's fellow tradesmen; Joe Costanian and Dolly Potter as king and queen of the fairies; Bruce Chesse as Puck. Others in the cast are Harry Mack, Ricky Citti, Richard Lowden, Ricky Robinson, Sheila McAfferty, Charlotte Johnson and Pat Vest.

The production will open July 14 for a run of six week ends.

Gas War Flares Up In Corte Madera

The gasoline price war which ended in Marin County two weeks ago flared up again yesterday when several stations in the Corte Madera area lowered their prices on regular gasoline by two cents a gallon. The new price per gallon was lowered from 29.9 cents to 27.9 cents. Ethyl gasoline was lowered from 33.9 and 34.9 cents a gallon to 32.9 cents a gallon.

Hub School Board Votes To Buy Land For Wade Thomas Expansion

San Anselmo school trustees last night decided to go ahead on the purchase of property to expand Wade Thomas School.

Trustees instructed Supt. Stephen Parodi to file an application to the state allocation board for purchase of the site. The trustees also directed Parodi to notify the state Board of Education on their intent to buy property in Sunny Hills for a school site.

The property the trustees hope to purchase for Wade Thomas School expansion is across from the present school grounds on Kensington Avenue. Included in the property are five homes, one of which is occupied by Mrs. Harriet Vail, 85-year-old widow who has told the board, "I don't want to move."

Another is occupied by Mrs. Marguerite Monteverdi, also a widow, who also told the board she does not want to move.

Eugene Crawford of Crawford and Banning, San Rafael architects, presented site plans to the board last night which showed the addition of four class rooms and a multi-purpose room which would be built on what is now Kensington Avenue.

(The City of San Anselmo has been asked to abandon the road from Ross Avenue to its terminus at Woodland Avenue and deed it to the school district.)

Board President Philip S. Bundschu said last night the board's decision will not be final until allocation papers are approved in Sacramento.

Crawford said the cost estimate for actual construction would be "slightly more than $200,000." He said an additional $29,000 would be needed for site development.

Mrs. Richard Keating, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Vail, was present at last night's meeting, as well as Mrs. Monteverdi and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lancelloti of 169 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, owners of one of the other houses which will have to be cleared away.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bennett of 117 Woodland Avenue, the only home in the section which will not be torn down. But they, too, are worried that their home will be absorbed in the expansion.

Mrs. Keating asked the trustees when they first applied to the state.

"How long before we, the people who live in the area, were even contacted?" she asked.

Parodi told her that the first specific communications with state school officials was May 6. "We told the State Board of Education that we were to expand as far back as last November, but we did not state any specific sites," he said.

Mrs. Marjorie Chaille of 1421 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, a former resident of the Wade Thomas School area, asked the trustees:

"Why wasn't Mrs. Vail contacted? The homeowners have a right to be consulted before any action is taken."

Mrs. Mary Hedin, trustee-clerk, answered, "There was no intent to be unjust. It was just a human breakdown. It wouldn't have made any difference if Mrs. Vail was contacted or not. I doubt this is the real issue."

Bundschu said, "We didn't want to alarm Mrs. Vail too soon. We didn't want her to worry if we were not going to use this property."

After a coffee break, the trustees started on the Sunny Hills property discussion with two dozen persons in the audience.

Trustee Robert Corlett reported to the board that he had discussed the matter with representatives of Sunny Hills and said a compromise would have to be reached between the board and the Sunny Hills officials.

Corlett said Sunny Hills officials had sketched a map of the development plan. Included in the map was a commercial area and an area which was to be used for professional offices. Next to this area was a 10 or 12 acre site which was called a "festival site" for the annual Grape Festival.

Behind this location was a site where a school could be built. Sunny Hills plans called for a group of cottages for class rooms encircling an administration building.

The apparent question in the trustees' minds was the 10 or 12 acre site for a "festival area." They hinted of the possibility of building a school in this area.

The trustees decided unanimously to notify state officials of their intent to purchase land, somewhere on the Sunny Hills property, but did not state any specific site or any acreage.

What Can We Do To Give Meaning To Memorial Day?

We celebrate Memorial Day today in uneasy times. Nearly 20 million men are under arms throughout the world. More than half of this vast military manpower is maintained by the five largest nations in the world.

Military planes number close to 100,000. Navies have approximately 12,000 ships.

As for weapons, the United States and the Soviet Union possess intercontinental ballistic missiles with a range of 9,000 miles or more. In addition, these two powers have other types of missiles with ranges from 100 to 1,500 miles. Practically all of them are capable of carrying atomic warheads.

Yet today we observe a day dedicated to the memory of those who have lost their lives in wars that have gone before, and to our friends and relatives who have passed from us.

It is difficult to go to the graveside of a youth killed in Pearl Harbor or Utah Beach or Chateau Thierry or even Bull Run and explain to him, or to yourself, how it happens we find ourselves once again in an arms race, under continuous tensions, demanding peace but not knowing how to get it.

Even in retrospect we can't really see where we have gone wrong. We can't say to ourselves honestly, "If I had it to do over again, this is the way to peace."

Somehow we have failed to develop morally, philosophically, spiritually anywhere's near as fast as we have been able to technologically. Our scientists have out-stripped our souls.

To what then, can we dedicate ourselves on this Memorial Day?

Why not try catching up?

Why not devote more personal attention to day by day human relationships —friendship, neighborliness, understanding, tolerance, assistance, unselfishness and love?

Why not devote more personal attention to moral principles of honesty, trustworthiness, responsibility, justice, and care for others?

Why not devote more personal attention to spiritual matters, to prayers for peace, freedom and equality, to church work and support, to living the kind of life God would have us live?

Would such activity on our parts lift the threats that hang over our heads? No, it would not. But in the long run, the world would then see us in that light. No amount of propaganda, bribery or threats could convince them that any other way of life is better.

STRUDEL CALLED A MENACE

Apple strudel was ruled a "potential menace for pedestrians or sitters unaware of its presence" by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

This eye-opening decision upheld a claim for damages lodged by a woman against a Philadelphia catering firm. She suffered a hip fracture when she slipped on a piece of strudel that fell to the floor at a dinner some time before.

Although the pastry is normally considered a tasty dessert, the ruling maintained that this was true only when it was in an edible state.

Like banana skins and many other harmless items, a wayward strudel can become quite dangerous. This is just another indication that everything must be in its rightful place if it is to accomplish a good purpose.

God made man too with a definite purpose —to know, love and serve Him in this life. He will reach his heavenly destination only if he acts according to his nature.

"Do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles?" (Matthew 7:16)

Help me to know, O Holy Spirit, when my actions are according to Your will, and to change them when they are not.

Dear Foreign Visitors: Yanks Always Like Free Spenders

NEW YORK (AP)—An open letter to any visiting European:

Dear Sir:

Naturally, under President John F. Kennedy's plan to increase foreign tourist travel to the United States every patriotic American welcomes you—and the funds you bring.

We all want you to have a fine time, whether you arrive loaded with pounds sterling, francs, marks or drachmas.

But, particularly if this is your first visit here, you may feel the need of a little briefing on how to make your stay more pleasant.

Here are a few helpful hints:

First and foremost, don't buy the Brooklyn Bridge — even if the seller tenders you an apparently valid bill of sale.

Remember, you are an unofficial ambassador of your own country and the people here will judge your country by how you behave. If you want to take a snapshot of a quaint American — and you may see many—politely ask his permission first.

Even if you know only a few halting American phrases, be sure to use them. The residents here always feel more warmhearted toward foreigners who make an effort, however limited, to speak to them in their own tongue.

Be sure to visit as many churches and museums as you can, as Americans are also very proud of their culture.

You may feel that the shopkeepers are in a conspiracy to cheat you because you have a foreign accent. This is not generally true. They may be suspicious of you, however, if you tender cash in payment. Buy on the installment plan—or flash a credit card. Then they'll know you're hep.

DO NOT SHOW annoyance if you give a bus driver a dollar bill and he hands you back 20 nickels. This is an old custom here.

The question of how to tip properly is a vexing problem in any country. There are some parts of America where, if you leave a nickel, the waiter will drop dead in sheer surprise. There are other parts where, if you don't tip 15 per cent of the bill, he may tell you to drop dead. Here you'll have to feel your own way.

BUT EVERYBODY likes a good spender. Spend freely. The money the United States lends your own country later may be your own.

Have a wonderful stay, and come back often!

Marin County's jail food appealed so little to one of Sheriff Walter Sellmer's customers that he went on a hunger strike. The sheriff cooperated by serving only bread and water.

Marin County grand jurors felt that reconstructed and modernized jail accommodations would become "vacation headquarters" for many, urged a system to put them to work.

Study Is Needed On Administrator

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

During the past few days your columns have been replete with news regarding the pending abolition of the office of county administrator. Much has been devoted to the opinions of various, presumably well informed personages, including our worthy supervisors, representatives of the Marin Taxpayers Association, Marin Council of Civic Affairs, and even Mr. Bruce himself.

The opinions and statements presented, however, are undoubtedly influenced by the emotions or convictions of the persons to whom they are credited.

It seems to me that we need an unbiased, factual report on this issue at this time, and what better facility is available to the electorate of Marin County than the Independent-Journal for the impartial presentation and dissemination of such vital information? You have the experience, the knowledge and the means.

I, for one, would like to know what the administrator's office has accomplished to date to bring about economy and efficiency to our county government. Won't you please publish a factual report on this? I am sure you would be doing all of us a great service.

Junior College Charges Unfair

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

A news item in the May 15 issue of the Independent-Journal was headlined "Millions of Dollars Loss Tied to Junior Colleges." May I explain that the College of Marin was not included in what seems to me was this unfair charge by Edgar B. Wicklander of Sacramento.

He was referring to the absence of separate financial reports for junior colleges which are part of unified high school districts and the practice of some of transferring funds between levels such as junior college to high school or vice versa.

Because the College of Marin is a separate junior college district, all its reports refer only to the junior college program and not to lower levels. Although the College of Marin is not involved in this controversy, I wish to defend the other junior colleges which are part of a high school district or a unified district.

The reports to the state are made on forms developed by the State Department of Education and the instructions are carefully followed. School districts do not usually make detailed breakdowns of expenses by grade level unless this is needed for local use or required by the state. The state can easily secure the desired reports by changing its official forms to secure the information.

A separate junior college organization seems to me to have many advantages over including junior colleges as part of high school unified districts. The problem of financial accounting illustrates only one of these advantages.

Most of fthe new junior colleges organizing in California are using the independent type or organization. The founders of the College of Marin were wise in adopting this form in 1926.

How Can Nazis Happen Here?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I am not very old or very smart, but I am the mother of two children. It's for my children that I am writing this.

How can it happen here? That's what I asked myself after reading last night's (May 24) paper.

"American Nazi Party?" How could it happen here?

I believe in freedom of speech, but I don't believe the United States is so foolish as to believe that is as far as it will go.

When my children grow up, will it be to a life of communism or nazism? It's bound to be one or the other. It's like a cancer. A little can't hurt but it's never satisfied, it keeps taking more and more. And with each step of growth, it becomes hungrier and wants more.

Has it been so long ago that no one can remember the horror of World War II? The concentration camps? Can't something be done to stop them? Is this wonderful country of ours to be used as a swamp where filth and diseases of the mind can grow? Where prejudices and hate become the rule instead of the exception?

How can we teach our children love and tolerance when all around them is hate and intolerance? How can we teach them to be fair, honest and trustworthy when these virtues are becoming things of the past? When in our own country in the government there is corruption, cheating, lying, and stealing?

How can we expect other countries to look to us for guidance when we have made such a mess of our own country?

Can somebody, anybody, answer these questions and explain to me what I can do to understand this world better? And how to explain it to my children?

I hope so, I hate to think of seeing my son in a communist uniform and my daughter wearing a swastika on her blouse.

Some Meetings In Novato Could Go Long Way Toward Solutions

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato High School.

Opinions expressed at the hearing will be used to help the committee decide its final recommendation on the Novato Unified School District and San Jose School District —whether they should be merged wholly or in part by unification, annexation or boundary change.

The final recommendation will come following the meeting; ultimately voters in the two districts will decide what they want.

BUT THE COMMITTEE needs to hear the opinions of a goodly number of people tomorrow night.

And the prime consideration of those opinions should be the education of the kids, in the years immediately after any type of merger and far in the future.

"Education" is a large word which undoubtedly will drag in administration change and the distance to San Rafael high versus Novato high.

But what is needed most is for the audience to listen unemotionally, speak calmly and begin preparing for a final decision at the polls.

There's another meeting coming up, June 8, at the city hall.

"PARKING IS the most important consideration in planning for the present and future development" of Novato. That's from a report of citizens who studied the needs of the commercial area, particularly Grant Avenue.

They went on to say that "we do not believe that the individual should be required to provide all necessary parking in a commercial area."

Nineteen tenants and nine property owners between Second and Fourth streets on Grant Avenue have been invited to that meeting. The city has a proposition—we'll fork in some money for improving Industrial Way, if you'll help us open up the back lots of your stores for parking.

Industrial Way is now a dusty, chuck-holed, gravel-covered, narrow alley running parallel to Grant. The back lots vary from moderately well kept to dirty, weedy and rubbish strewn.

THE FORMULA of who pays for what still must be worked out. There is the question of who would benefit most—perhaps some merchant up the street, rather than the provider of parking space.

But if city and property owners come to the meeting ready to talk calmly, and most of all, give, everyone may win.

Cuba, Laos, Alabama Won't Hurt Kennedy In His Overseas Talks

WASHINGTON — The run of bad news from Cuba, Laos, Alabama, is, of course, a depressing prelude to the President's trip abroad. But we must not exaggerate. While the reverses we have suffered have hurt us with our allies and friends, I do not think they will have any substantial effect, one way or the other, on the basic problems which the President will be dealing with both in Paris and in Vienna.

In Paris, the problem will be how the Western Alliance is to be managed. In Vienna, the problem will be how the relations between the two great constellations are to be controlled.

The two men with whom the President will be talking are realists who calculate their policy primarily in terms of national power. There are almost no American public men who are realists in the same degree. At least they do not talk out loud about it.

GEN. DE GAULLE and Nikita Khrushchev believe in their own calculations of what the various powers can do, and in their own thinking they are little impressed by, indeed they have a high degree of immunity to, public relations and "images" and that sort of thing.

Khrushchev is, of course, a great propagandist. But his policy is based on a cold calculation of power.

The language of the Paris and Vienna talks will have to be the language of power politics — which deals with what nations will do in relation to what they can do when their truly vital interests are involved.

THERE IS, I realize, a certain tactlessness in speaking of what is common to the Paris and Vienna meetings. Indeed, I was one of those who thought that it would be more tactful if the President did not go straight from his meeting with de Gaulle to a meeting with Khrushchev.

But now that the arrangements have been set—with the blessing, so I hear, of de Gaulle himself—it is useful to realize not only that the President will be talking with two realists, but that their realistic calculations arise from the same factual base.

This is the fact that American military supremacy, which lasted from 1945 until shortly after 1955, has been replaced by a balance of power. This is the central event of our time, and it affects profoundly and pervasively all international relations.

When the President meets de Gaulle, he will find a man who, with the insight of genius, is acutely aware of the change in the world balance of power. This awareness is the root of his disbelief in the validity of the NATO structure and strategy. This is the root of his lack of confidence, which must not be ignored, in the United States as the protector of Europe and the leader of the world.

IN KHRUSHCHEV the President will meet a man who is deeply conscious of, whose policy is governed by, the new fact that there is a balance of power. Unless I am much mistaken, Khrushchev's confidence in Soviet power is accompanied by a healthy respect for American power.

I do not share the views of those who are afraid that our reverses in Cuba and Laos have caused him to underrate American power or American determination. He knows perfectly well that the United States could take Havana in an afternoon.

The controlling fact in dealing with Khrushchev is his insistence upon a full recognition, with all its consequences spelled out, of the new balance of power.

The past several months of costly, bungling prodding into building procedures, hospital administration, seismic engineering, data processing electronics, etc., etc., by the board of unequipped, self-styled "administrators" should certainly point to our desperate NEED for a county administrator (for anyone with his eyes open).

Intelligently disbursing the millions of dollars involved in governing hundreds of square miles and well over a hundred thousand people is not and was never intended to be the realm of a part-time, elected, citizen board.

The Board of Supervisors is a board of review, and unless we maintain the county administrator's office, the board will have nothing to review but their own part-time, half-baked ideas.

State Should Buy NWP At Tiburon

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter recently sent to the Division of Beaches and Parks and the Division of Small Craft Harbors in an attempt to preserve the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property in Tiburon:

Gentlemen:

Your consideration is requested with regard to the Tiburon waterfront area located opposite Angel Island State Park. This area is now owned for the most part by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad—however, since the railroad will within a few years terminate its operation in Tiburon, we are most deeply concerned about this property, and we would like, with your help, to preserve it and use it to its best advantage.

It is our feeling that this property will be best used in the public interest because it is the heart of the beautiful Tiburon peninsula, and provides access to Angel Island and the San Francisco Bay. It is proposed that the acreage and waterfront property be acquired and placed under the protection of the Department of Beaches and Parks, possibly, through a mutual purchase with the Division of Small Craft Harbors.

The site is an ideal deep water harbor with all the natural facilities at its disposal, and no dredging would be required to transform it into a small boat harbor with berthing facilities for which there is such a great need in this area.

The residents of the community, in their concern to preserve this property, recently voted and passed a bond to acquire some land with the possibility that the railroad property be utilized for a public high school and the waterfront property be taken under possession of your department.

Needless to say, this arrangement would be an ideal and beneficial one. Under such arrangement, an agreement could be negotiated whereby valuable parking space could be jointly shared, since the demands of each would be utilized at different times. This plan, however, is only a possibility toward the greater objective — to retain and preserve this property, thus conserving the landscape as in the Carmel area, where the beauties of the natural coastline have been retained and not allowed to fall prey to the desecrating influences of commercial enterprise.

We certainly do not oppose commercial enterprise; however, we do feel that special areas, such as this, by virtue of their natural beauty and location fulfill their greatest use under the proper protection—and it is to this end that we request your cooperation and help.

We are bringing this matter to your attention now because planning requires time—and time is so short in the consideration of land for public use. Moreover, we consider this matter to be of immediate importance — and we would like to know that we have your help and support in our efforts to effect, through the Planning Commission, the appropriate recreational zoning for this area, as the plans that have been presented to the community thus far are far from beneficial.

We feel that the high value of this land strongly warrants all the advantages that mutual planning would give it, and we will welcome any comments or suggestions from the Department of Beaches and Parks as how to best proceed in our plan to retain this property for the enjoyment of the greater majority.

Natural Childbirth Unit Forming

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was very pleased to see the thoughtful letters by Mary Beweley, Mary Felix, and Sally White. Perhaps they would like to take an active part in the promotion of the idea of education for childbirth.

A dedicated group of physiotherapists and nurses have been giving these classes in San Rafael for years, under the direction of Gunhild Brown. I enjoyed attneding them and I feel that if more women knew about the classes, they, too, could benefit. An association is now being formed for the general purpose of promoting education for childbirth and I suggest that anyone who wants to help call Mrs. Brown.

It is true that a lot of doctors are interested only in the physical side of labor. But there ARE some doctors in Marin who believe that a woman's feelings during labor are extremely important, both at the time and in her lifelong memories. My own doctor, who practices in Marin County, believes that labor should be a good experience instead of a bad one. There are others.

In the future, I hope, there will be many others. Meanwhile, those who are interested in natural childbirth can find sympathetic help right here in Marin.

Smaller Trees For Miracle Mile?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The writer during the last 75 years has observed and also done quite a bit of tree-trimming, hence can witness to the fact that the pruning of the 39 large elms between Sequoia Drive and Sir Francis Drake Blvd. on the Miracle Mile in San Anselmo, is an excellent job.

But whereas these large elms hide the beauty of hills, trees and skyline above—and because of their nakedness below, reveal the ugliness on—and close to the ground. Still more superlative language could be used to praise aforementioned job, if the elms were removed and replaced with much smaller trees to reveal beauty and hide ugliness.

Once a month P. G. and E. sends a bill, but the writer feels we get our money's worth. They even are anxious to help lessen our bills by lessening the enormous cost of tree trimming. They publish a beautiful illustrated pamphlet of trees fit for proper locations, that you can obtain free. They contsantly move about the beauty of nature even adding new lakes and cascades.

Why should we not here on the Miracle Mile get beauty and tree-conscious?

Guilt-Ridden Start Serious Problems

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I'm always impressed with people who indulge in a bit of harmless pleasure only to become so guilt ridden they must mount a great white charger and be off on a crusade to "save humanity."

It is this type of individual reaction, in most any given situation, which causes great social unrest. It can be heard in church groups, at P-TA meetings or in the home. As a result of a bit of self indulgence, many guilt-ridden people start such serious problems as book burnings, etc.

The greatest experience that can happen to a people is to find how much ALIKE we are. We need to recognize that the person who has lived in a form of government which has little respect for human life and the persons who find themselves in a profession which is not accepted in many social circles are also human beings, like ourselves, with many of our hopes, aspirations and desires for betterment.

Too much has been said and done to point out our differences as anyone on the "Freedom Ride" can testify. Let's begin to see some of the likenesses we possess and on the positive side for awhile.

Let's find how we can appeal to those likenesses and develop a more common understanding.

Prostitution, communism, race prejudice and bigotry all have their negative features, but the people who have embraced them, in one way or another, have very positive attributes and philosophies.

We need to look that little bit further and learn just a little more about our fellow man. The more we find out about him, the more "common ground" we have to build a society which has mutual trust and respect.

The film seen by a previous writer (letter published May 22) tends to develop some of this "common ground." It was shown "To Adults Only" and hopefully will attract people with a deep philosophical bend, instead of those desiring a "sexy" interlude, then one later overcome by guilt feelings following such an experience.

Criminals Stay Away From Ross

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I hope you will find space to let me express my admiration for the efficiency of the Ross Police Department.

Last night (May 20) an incident occurred that I reported to the Ross police by phone, merely because I consider it my duty as a good citizen to let the police know what is going on. I won't name what was done because I do not want to give other children any ideas they don't already have. It was a minor thing, no real damage done. I was not even angry about it.

But within 15 minutes of my phone call, Policeman Flowers was at my door, took note of what I was reporting and I told him I thought it was a childish stunt and that I was not unduly worried about it. He drove off.

Within another 15 minutes my doorbell rang and a youngster told my wife he would like to talk to me. She let him in and I asked him what I could do for him. He said, "Mr. Couch, I want to apologize for what I did. I am sorry."

I asked him what he had done and he told me. No hesitation, just pure truth and a very contrite youngster 10½ years old.

I asked him why he had come to apologize and he told me Mr. Flowers told him he owed me an apology. He had a little friend with him, also 10½ years old. Both were scared and ashamed. We had a friendly chat and my wife filled their hands wtih candies and I asked him if in the future he would be my friend and he assured me he would be glad to be friends with me if I wanted him to be.

Mr. Flowers came in about then and he exacted a pledge from the children that they would not pull such stunts again. We all parted in a friendly spirit.

Today the mother of the child visited us to offer her apology also and we assured her it was all settled quite satisfactorily and that I hoped her son would feel in the future that I was his friend. She is a very cultured, decent, respectable lady and she is in no way derelict in her duty as a mother in the matter.

For fast police action I tip my hat to Mr. Flowers. He was really right on the beam.

Criminals, stay away from Ross!

Many Support Film Evaluation

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Mr. Bliss' letter of May 11 deploring what he called, "the double-barreled bill of sickening sex, 'Elmer Gantry' and 'The Apartment'," and Mrs. Muir's very thoughtful letter of May 22 on her reactions to seeing a prostitute glamorized are extremely interesting to me.

Both these people not only recognize the specific harm being done to our young people (which authorities on youth are quick to acknowledge) but even more remarkable, both of them are honest and discerning enough to accept THEIR responsibility in contributing to the lowering of public moral standards if they support such films by buying tickets to them.

This understanding that each of us must stand for what we know is right and refuse to support indecency in any form appears to be just rare enough to attract attention.

But their number are growing! Hedda Hopper reported recently, "In more than 20 years of columning I've never received such a flood of irate mail as that inspired by this year's Oscar Awards. These letters are not the prudish objections of the narrow-minded as objectors to our movie subjects are all too often called. They are the intelligent protests of superior people, and 9 times out of 10, they are accompanied by critical clippings from their local papers.

One of these columnists was probably Terrence O'Flaherty, the sophisticated young bachelor who writes a first-rate column for the S. F. Chronicle. In commenting on "The Apartment," which he called "a shoddy, adulterous little yarn that was glossed over with a slick production," he added: "If the members of the movie industry really consider this their most distinguished effort of the year, then they're sicker than I suspected and we're all in trouble."

Mr. Bliss asked in his letter, "Must we endure these films until we hear of our son seducing a young girl, or read of the neighbor's boy participating in the murder of a man beneath the wheels of a street car?" Or perhaps are ourselves the victims of such senseless brutality, we could add.

Yet in case any reader feels such opinions are merely those of over-anxious parents, that "the same things have always happened only they get more publicity now," let me quote J. Edgar Hoover, who I think all would agree is not a man to get hysterical over a little immorality. He said, "In the face of a terrifying juvenile crime wave we are inundated with a flood of movies and television programs that applaud lawlessness and flaunt indecency."

Right now there is a resolution before the state legislature, S. R. 86, presenting the need for forming a Senate fact-finding committee to investigate the effects of such films on the public morals and welfare and to recommend appropriate legislation by the 1963 session. All who are concerned would do well to let Sen. Holmdahl of Alameda County, who introduced the bill (and your own senator) know you support this resolution.

In the meantime, the Fourteenth District of P-TA, which comprises Marin and Sonoma Counties, is organizing a campaign to alert parents in all the schools in this area to the danger to their children and to supply them with thoughtful evaluations of current movie fare.

There is a place in every school for people with the intelligent discernment of Mr. Bliss and Mrs. Muir. We sincerely hope they will all come forward to help in this campaign!

NEW DEPARTMENT HEAD —Dr. C. G. Clear of 31 George Lane, Sausalito, was appointed head of the newly organized fuels and lubricants department at the Shell Development Co. Research Center in Emeryville. In his new capacity, Clear will direct the long-range research projects in all areas of the fuels and lubricants fields for Shell Oil Co.

South Africa Police Keep Up Patrols

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South African police were out in strength again today to protect non-whites going to work in defiance of a call from leaders to strike for the right to vote and hold office.

Police on overnight patrols of sprawling Negro townships outside the big cities encountered sporadic violence—mostly cases in which African pickets assaulted African non-strikers.

First reports indicated the response to the strike orders today would be even weaker than it was Monday, when the three-day protest started.

The strike made a strong showing yesterday only in Johannesburg. In other major cities work went on almost normally.

Waiting For Other Two Supervisors

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Re your edition of 5-20-61, wherein you give front page headlines and free advertising to the Marin Poor Losers' Club (they call themselves "Committee for Civic Affairs"). Now they want the county administrator's office to continue, so it looks like our Marin Board of Supervisors will be in for some heckling from the aforementioned group by another of their demonstrations.

This office was a Vera Schultz creation, and, so sure was she of her control of Marin that she imported Donald Jensen ahead of time and had him stand idly by on salary while she completed her plans to officially install him as county administrator . . . under her orders . . . of course.

With only Supervisor Fusselman in her way, too bad for Marin, what Vera wanted, Vera got. Through this ambitious woman's leadership, a million dollars that had been set aside for the maintenance and/or rebuilding of our county hospital was diverted into her pet project: the civic center.

When Schultz and Marshall were beaten in the election of June 1960, there was not a whisper of the great need for repairs at our county hospital. Not a word was said until the end of the year when our two new supervisors, Blair and Ludy, took office, and then by an obviously prearranged plan, emanating from the poor losers, came cries of "our dirty back yard," "no county hospital," "what will we do if a disaster hits marin?," etc., etc. Their own leaders made the mess, so what? Who do they think they are kidding?

A supervisor is an elected official standing at the head of the administration of a township or other county subdivision. WE HAVE NO NEED FOR A COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR . . . WE HAVE FIVE NOW.

Oh, Committee for Civic Affairs; heavy, heavy hangs over thy head and over the heads of thy two pet supervisors who come up for re-election in June 1962. Patiently the people are waiting in these two districts and they are bound by common sense to follow the same sane reasoning as did the three distrists who elected supervisors last June 1960.

Full Olympic Style Pool, New Gym Asked At Marin J.C.

Marin Junior College health and physical education department chairman Harry Peiper called for a new gymnasium with a full-sized Olympic style swimming pool and criticized school spirit in a 43-page division report presented to trustees Thursday.

"Student interest in swimming and diving competition is great. Many students have a high degree of skill," Peiper said. Referring to a 20-year-plan, he suggested a new gymnasium be built on college property at Tamalpais Center. It would have a swimming pool.

Outside activity areas at the site would include those for track, baseball, softball, tennis, archery, basketball, girl's field hockey, volleyball, and badminton and a football stadium.

College board attention also was called to the junior college trend toward using community facilities in physical education programs. "We can use these at no extra expense to the college," Mildred Wollet, health education instructor said, pointing to local facilities for bowling, sailing and horseback riding.

Peiper also said future plans call for expansion of the intramural program and a possible need for greater development of the remedial program for the physically handicapped. "If competitive athletics provide valuable experience for a chosen few, then these experiences should be offered to all at their own ability level," he said.

He cited lagging student loyalty and spirit as a problem cause in the intercollegiate program. He suggested promoting this by more effectively organized student activities, intramural program expansion, and increased faculty participation and interest.

Trusteees expressed concern. Board chairman Mrs. Deedy said, "There is more to being a faculty member than attending class."

"I don't think you can legislate this sort of thing," Peiper said. As a cure, he suggested student, faculty and trustee recognition of the role athletics should play in education.

"There are California junior colleges in which athletics play the most important role. It dominates the school. Students, administrators and trustees are mostly concerned with the college's athletic teams. This is not so at Marin.

"There is no room for professionalism in junior college athletics. Athletics must remain in the proper perspective if it is to be meaningful. It cannot dominate college purpose. But it does have a supportive role.

"The student's academic efforts are his most important. But he meets academic changes more willingly in an environment of high morale, loyalty and spirited college attitudes.

"Schools today are different from the 3R schools of yesterday. If we are to educate the whole student, his needs must be met in social, recreational and athletic areas as well as the academic," he said.

Peiper cited as some of the teaching aims of his department physical fitness, social adjustment (in sportsmanship, cooperation, consideration), mental health (in emotional release and control), personal development (in self-confidence, courage, leadership) and worthy use of leisure time.

"The effectiveness of the main academic structure is strengthened by physical education and extra-curricular activities," Peiper said.

Peiper named needs for facilities and supervisory personnel as principal problem causes in the physical education, intramural and intercollegiate programs. "Students have the interest," he said. These needs are immediate.

Radar Successfully Tested In Anti-Missile Program

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —For the first time, target-tracking radar for the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile has been tested successfully against an Atlas missile soaring into the South Atlantic.

The Army called the test "a significant achievement in the Nike-Zeus development program."

The test, revealed yesterday, involved a huge radar screen on Ascension Island. It locked into the Atlas nose cone as the cone dived toward its target last Friday near the end of a 5,000-mile flight from Cape Canaveral.

The 24-foot dish antenna is a discriminating device, capable of sorting out the actual warhead from so-called missile "Junk" such as pieces of booster rocket. It also is not fooled by nose cone decoys ejected by the rocket, according to the Army.

The target-tracking radar is one of four radar systems to be used in the complex Zeus system which is designed to launch a missile to destroy rockets before they reach the United States.

R. 86, presenting the need for forming a Senate fact-finding committee to investigate the effects of such films on the public morals and welfare and to recommend appropriate legislation by the 1963 session. All who are concerned would do well to let Sen. Holmdahl of Alameda County, who introduced the bill (and your own senator) know you support this resolution.

In the meantime, the Fourteenth District of P-TA, which comprises Marin and Sonoma Counties, is organizing a campaign to alert parents in all the schools in this area to the danger to their children and to supply them with thoughtful evaluations of current movie fare.

There is a place in every school for people with the intelligent discernment of Mr. Bliss and Mrs. Muir. We sincerely hope they will all come forward to help in this campaign!

South Africa Police Keep Up Patrols

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South African police were out in strength again today to protect non-whites going to work in defiance of a call from leaders to strike for the right to vote and hold office.

Police on overnight patrols of sprawling Negro townships outside the big cities encountered sporadic violence—mostly cases in which African pickets assaulted African non-strikers.

First reports indicated the response to the strike orders today would be even weaker than it was Monday, when the three-day protest started.

The strike made a strong showing yesterday only in Johannesburg. In other major cities work went on almost normally.

Waiting For Other Two Supervisors

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Re your edition of 5-20-61, wherein you give front page headlines and free advertising to the Marin Poor Losers' Club (they call themselves "Committee for Civic Affairs"). Now they want the county administrator's office to continue, so it looks like our Marin Board of Supervisors will be in for some heckling from the aforementioned group by another of their demonstrations.

This office was a Vera Schultz creation, and, so sure was she of her control of Marin that she imported Donald Jensen ahead of time and had him stand idly by on salary while she completed her plans to officially install him as county administrator . . . under her orders . . . of course.

With only Supervisor Fusselman in her way, too bad for Marin, what Vera wanted, Vera got. Through this ambitious woman's leadership, a million dollars that had been set aside for the maintenance and/or rebuilding of our county hospital was diverted into her pet project: the civic center.

When Schultz and Marshall were beaten in the election of June 1960, there was not a whisper of the great need for repairs at our county hospital. Not a word was said until the end of the year when our two new supervisors, Blair and Ludy, took office, and then by an obviously prearranged plan, emanating from the poor losers, came cries of "our dirty back yard," "no county hospital," "what will we do if a disaster hits marin?," etc., etc. Their own leaders made the mess, so what? Who do they think they are kidding?

A supervisor is an elected official standing at the head of the administration of a township or other county subdivision. WE HAVE NO NEED FOR A COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR . . . WE HAVE FIVE NOW.

Oh, Committee for Civic Affairs; heavy, heavy hangs over thy head and over the heads of thy two pet supervisors who come up for re-election in June 1962. Patiently the people are waiting in these two districts and they are bound by common sense to follow the same sane reasoning as did the three distrists who elected supervisors last June 1960.

Full Olympic Style Pool, New Gym Asked At Marin J.C.

Marin Junior College health and physical education department chairman Harry Peiper called for a new gymnasium with a full-sized Olympic style swimming pool and criticized school spirit in a 43-page division report presented to trustees Thursday.

"Student interest in swimming and diving competition is great. Many students have a high degree of skill," Peiper said. Referring to a 20-year-plan, he suggested a new gymnasium be built on college property at Tamalpais Center. It would have a swimming pool.

Outside activity areas at the site would include those for track, baseball, softball, tennis, archery, basketball, girl's field hockey, volleyball, and badminton and a football stadium.

College board attention also was called to the junior college trend toward using community facilities in physical education programs. "We can use these at no extra expense to the college," Mildred Wollet, health education instructor said, pointing to local facilities for bowling, sailing and horseback riding.

Peiper also said future plans call for expansion of the intramural program and a possible need for greater development of the remedial program for the physically handicapped. "If competitive athletics provide valuable experience for a chosen few, then these experiences should be offered to all at their own ability level," he said.

He cited lagging student loyalty and spirit as a problem cause in the intercollegiate program. He suggested promoting this by more effectively organized student activities, intramural program expansion, and increased faculty participation and interest.

Trusteees expressed concern. Board chairman Mrs. Deedy said, "There is more to being a faculty member than attending class."

"I don't think you can legislate this sort of thing," Peiper said. As a cure, he suggested student, faculty and trustee recognition of the role athletics should play in education.

"There are California junior colleges in which athletics play the most important role. It dominates the school. Students, administrators and trustees are mostly concerned with the college's athletic teams. This is not so at Marin.

"There is no room for professionalism in junior college athletics. Athletics must remain in the proper perspective if it is to be meaningful. It cannot dominate college purpose. But it does have a supportive role.

"The student's academic efforts are his most important. But he meets academic changes more willingly in an environment of high morale, loyalty and spirited college attitudes.

"Schools today are different from the 3R schools of yesterday. If we are to educate the whole student, his needs must be met in social, recreational and athletic areas as well as the academic," he said.

Peiper cited as some of the teaching aims of his department physical fitness, social adjustment (in sportsmanship, cooperation, consideration), mental health (in emotional release and control), personal development (in self-confidence, courage, leadership) and worthy use of leisure time.

"The effectiveness of the main academic structure is strengthened by physical education and extra-curricular activities," Peiper said.

Peiper named needs for facilities and supervisory personnel as principal problem causes in the physical education, intramural and intercollegiate programs. "Students have the interest," he said. These needs are immediate.

Radar Successfully Tested In Anti-Missile Program

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —For the first time, target-tracking radar for the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile has been tested successfully against an Atlas missile soaring into the South Atlantic.

The Army called the test "a significant achievement in the Nike-Zeus development program."

The test, revealed yesterday, involved a huge radar screen on Ascension Island. It locked into the Atlas nose cone as the cone dived toward its target last Friday near the end of a 5,000-mile flight from Cape Canaveral.

The 24-foot dish antenna is a discriminating device, capable of sorting out the actual warhead from so-called missile "Junk" such as pieces of booster rocket. It also is not fooled by nose cone decoys ejected by the rocket, according to the Army.

The target-tracking radar is one of four radar systems to be used in the complex Zeus system which is designed to launch a missile to destroy rockets before they reach the United States.

McCovey's Looking Better

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Don't look now but Willie McCovey has the longest hitting streak of the San Francisco Giants.

Even if it is just four games, and even though Willie is hitting only .191, Manager Alvin Dark found it pleasant to contemplate after Cincinnati spoiled the Giants' homecoming yesterday with a 5-1 victory.

Rookie right-hander Ken Hunt (5-2) upset the Giants' equilibrium with a seven-hitter. Frank Robinson's three-run homer in the first inning, his 12th of the year, made a loser out of Mike McCormick (5-3).

McCovey got one hit in four trips but he swacked the ball solidly three times and he looks as though he's regained his confidence.

For the first time this year the fans, 10,852 of 'em cheered heartily each time McCovey appeared at the plate. The thought of that was the only thing that wrenched a smile from Dark, a fellow who hates to lose even when he's still leading the National League by two games.

The Reds and Giants played a doubleheader today, with the first game at 10:30 a.m. Jim Maloney (1-2) faced the Giants' Sam Jones (4-3) in the first game and the Reds' Jim O'Toole (4-4) was matched against Juan Marichal (2-1) in the second game.

Hunt ended a four-game Giant winning streak. There were Giants on base in every inning except the ninth but Hunt, with seven strikeouts, kept damage at a minimum.

The Giants' only run came in the fifth on singles by Charlie Hiller and Ed Bressoud and Felipe Alou's bounce-out.

Bressoud got to play shortstop because Joe Pagan bruised his left foot with a foul in the second inning. Bressoud went two for two.

Wally Post and Vada Pinson collided in short right center field on a pop fly hit by the Giants' Jim Marshall. Although both Post and Pinson were grounded for several minutes, Pinson held onto the ball and both he and Post stayed in the game.

Koufax Shows He Has Finally Arrived

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long wait is over for the Los Angeles Dodgers. Sandy Koufax has arrived with a bang, leading the National League with six victories and topping the majors in strikeouts while putting away the longest shutout streak of the season in either league.

The young left-hander, whose lack of control has overshadowed his firepower in the past, came up with his second consecutive three-hitter last night, out-dueling Larry Jackson for a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

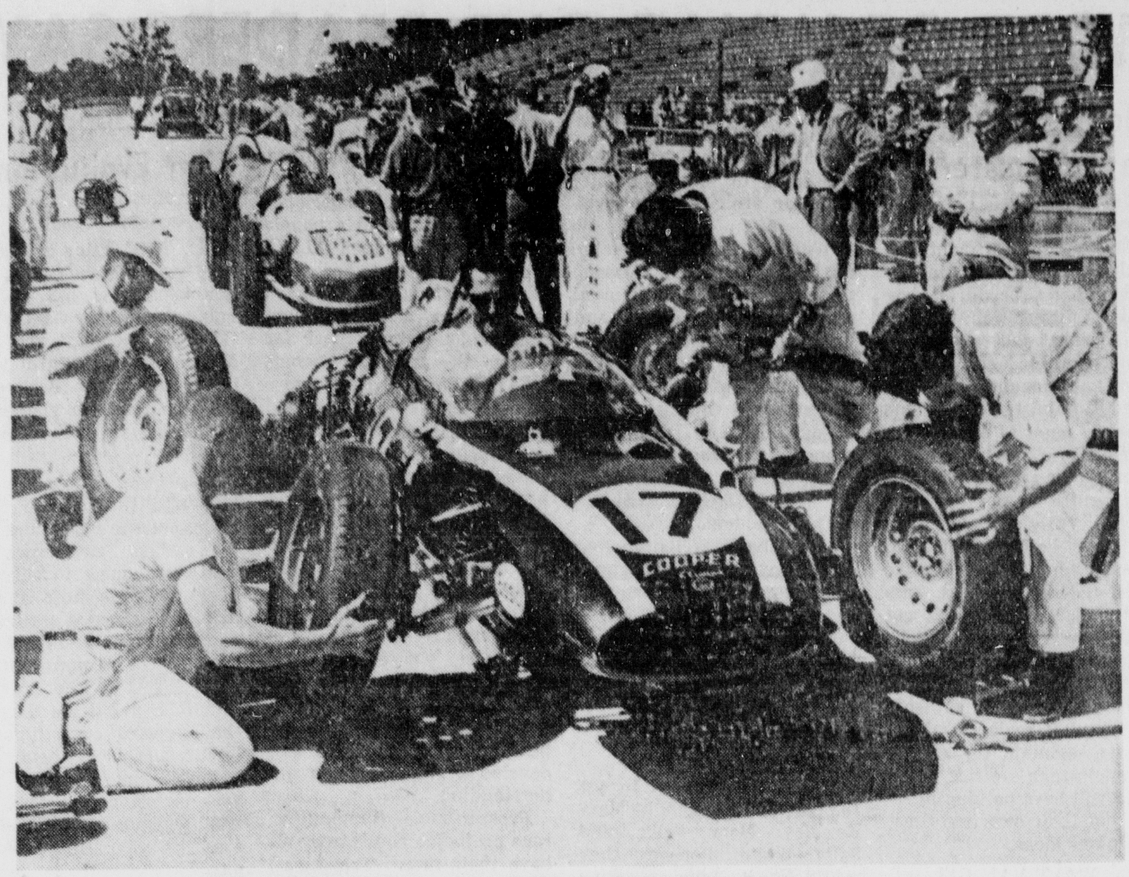

That pushed the second-place Dodgers within 1½ games of front-running San Francisco after Cincinnati knocked off the Giants 5-1 in an afternoon game. No other games were scheduled.

In the only American League game Boston beat New York 2-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Ike Delock.

Koufax (6-2) now has won three in a row and six of his last seven decisions. He walked five and struck out 13 in this one, blanking the Cards until the ninth. A leadoff triple by Ken Boyer and a balk gave the Cards their run and ended Sandy's shutout string at 22 innings—before Koufax fanned Hal Smith with the tying run on first.

The Dodgers also scored on a balk as they put over both runs in the eighth. Jackson (1-4), whose lone victory was a 7-2 decision over the Dodgers, had a five-hit shutout for seven frames. Then a walk and two bunts loaded the bases. Relief ace Lindy McDaniel came on and balked, forcing in a run, before giving up a winning single by Willie Davis.

This was the eighth victory in 12 games for the Dodgers with all the victories by one run and kept them a half-game ahead of third place Cincinnati.

THE LAST DRESS REHEARSAL

It was just a rehearsal when the pit crew of the Cooper Climax, English-built racer, practiced tire changing and refueling yesterday in preparation for today's 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Driver Jack Brabham of Sydney, Australia, is seated in the racer, and Roger Ward of Indianapolis can be seen in the Sun City Special (2) behind the English car. Today the tire changes and refueling were for real. For story of race see page 1. (AP Wirephoto)

Tigers Back Home After Winning Trip

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, hardly puffing after a 17-game road trip that did nothing at all to discourage their pennant hopes, settled down at home with a 3½-game lead as the American League race reached the Memorial Day mark.

The Tigers left home with a 2½-game edge. They padded it to five midway through the trip and even after losing three of their last four games, still arrived home better off than when they left. In all, they were 10-7 on the tour. Detroit now plays eight at home, goes to Chicago for two and then hustles back to Tiger Stadium for a 12-game stay.

ONLY GAME

Only one game was scheduled in the A.L. yesterday, and righthander Ike Delock of the Boston Red Sox pitched a five-hitter that beat New York 2-1 and ended Whitey Ford's winning streak at six. The loss dropped the third place Yankees five games behind Detroit going into today's single game at Boston.

The rest of the A.L.'s holiday schedule puts Minnesota at Cleveland for a pair with the second place Indians while fourth place Baltimore is at Chicago for two with the White Sox. The Los Angeles Angels are at Washington for a single game.

MANTLE HOMERS

The Yankees were shut out on two singles by Delock (3-1) until Mickey Mantle hit his 11th home run with one out in the seventh for a 1-1 tie. But Boston, after losing eight in a row to New York since last Sept. 6, put it away in the bottom of the seventh. Jackie Jensen, who had homered for the first run in the second inning, walked and came across on an infield out and a single by Vic Wertz.

Delock struck out seven and did not walk a man. Ford (6-2) gave up four hits and four walks while striking out eight in his seven innings.

Halimi Defends His Half Of Bantam Title Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Alphonse Halimi, the Frenchman who holds half of the world bantamweight boxing title, steps into a London ring tonight to prove once again that he's no longer a circus performer—but a dedicated prize fighter.

Halimi defends his share of the world crown against John Caldwell, the Irish holder of the British flyweight crown and unbeaten in 21 pro fights.

It was three years ago that Halimi first won the world bantamweight title. Then he went on a circus tour of France. It was a big success. People loved his acts. All the time he kept supremely fit and ready to step into the ring at any time.

But Halimi, born in Constantine, Algeria, in June, 1932, suddenly found himself against Mexican Joe Becerra.

Becerra defeated the Frenchman and took the title. Halimi failed to win it back in a return seven months later.

Halimi immediately turned back to the dedicated business of earning his money by his fists. It paid off.

He won his half of the disputed world title by outpointing Ireland's Freddie Gilroy in London in October 1960.

The other half of the world title is held by Eder Jofre of Brazil. He's recognized in the United States. Halimi is recognized in Europe.

Dick Weber Extends Win Skein

HOUSTON (AP)—Dick Weber, the little man from St. Louis, is the first person in the history of the Professional Bowlers Association to win three consecutive tournaments.

Weber added the third yesterday when he beat Joe Joseph of Detroit in two games to win the $25,000 Fred Magee Classic.

The whispy bowler beat Joseph 205-200 in the first game and took the second, 222-200. The $3,000 first place money boosted his five-tournament total for the year to $6,430.

Joseph collected $2,500 for second place. Don Carter of St. Louis, the 1960 bowler of the year, finished third to win $2,000.

San Rafael Post Office Loses And Wins One

The San Rafael Post Office fielded two softball teams Friday night, winning at Richmond over the Richmond Post Office 18-5 and losing at San Anselmo to the San Anselmo Post Office 9-8.

The Richmond game was marked by the powerful batting of Bill Lasseter who hit two bases-loaded home runs and drove in 10 of the 18 runs scored by San Rafael.

In the other game, the San Anselmo Post Office capitalized on infield errors in the bottom of the last inning to score 4 runs and edge San Rafael.

Ketron's Fastest Two-Mile Good For 7th In Meet

Former Drake High athlete Doug Ketron ran the fastest two-mile of his track career at the Modesto Relays last weekend, turning in a 9:10.

The effort was good for seventh place for the Nevada University distance runner in a very fast field of 13.

Ketron's next effort will be in the three-mile in an AAU meet to be held June 10 at Stanford University.

Fullmer Hurts Hand; Fight Is Postponed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A cracked knuckle on champion Gene Fullmer's right hand has postponed his NBA middleweight title fight against Cuba's Florentino Fernandez.

The bout had been scheduled for July 8 at Ogden, Utah.

President Joe Dupler of the Intermountain Boxing Club said it now will be held and televised Aug. 5 in Ogden Stadium.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, said Fullmer first noticed something wrong with his hand Saturday. He skipped regular sparring work yesterday to get it examined.

A doctor said Fullmer had a tiny fracture in the knuckle of the middle finger of his right hand. He said the injury was not serious, but will prevent Fullmer from hard punching with it for three or four weeks.

Jenson said as far as he knows, Fullmer must have received the injury during regular sparring sessions sometime last week.

Young Boxer Badly Hurt

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young Cuban featherweight boxer knocked out in a preliminary bout last night was given less than a 50-50 chance to live today.

Jose Rigores, 25, collapsed in the dressing room at St. Nicholas Arena shortly after he was knocked out by Anselmo Castillo in the sixth and final round of their bout.

Rigores was rushed to Roosevelt Hospital where he underwent emergency surgery to relieve pressure from a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Robert Shick, a neurosurgeon, performed the 2½ hour craniotomy. Dr. Edwin Campbell, one of three New York State Athletic Commission doctors present during the operation, gave Rigores "less than a 50-50 chance to live."

It's Time For Woman's Horse To Win Derby

LONDON (AP)—Hunch players who believe that history goes in cycles will put a bet on a woman's horse winning the Epsom Derby tomorrow.

Here's the reason. Every sixth year since 1937, the great English classic for 3-year-olds has been won by a horse owned by women. It has been six years since it last happened.

The last woman to win the derby was Mrs. Suzy Volterra—with Phil Drake in 1955.

In 1949 Mrs. M. Glennister's Nimbus won. In 1943 it was Dorothy Paget's Straight Deal.

In 1937 Mrs. G. B. Miller's Mid-day Sun did it.

With one exception, male owners have won every other derby in that period. Mrs. MacDonald Buchanan broke the cycle by winning with Owen Tudor in 1941.

Of the first eight horses in the betting list, three are owned by women.

Mountiers, the favorite, is entered by Mrs. R. B. Strassburger, widow of the Norristown, Pa., publisher who tried and failed for 30 years to win the famed race on Epsom Downs.

Pandao, second favorite, carries the hopes of Mrs. C. O. Iselin of Glen Head, N. Y.

Dicta Drake is Mrs. Volterra's big hope for repeating her 1955 success. He's the son of the 1955 winner, Phil Drake.

The 6-year cycle is the kind of hunch that appeals to Britain's once-a-year bettors. Housewives and office girls who normally never bet on a horse race, find a fancy and have a flutter on the derby.

Other hunch bettors pick a horse by its color.

There is not a single black horse in the line-up this year, or a gray one either. But the dark horses literally are Sovrange, joint second favorite at 10-1, Rullahgeelash and Owen David, both 66-1 shots.

Bettors with a hunch for a chestnut horse will put their wagers on Mountiers. With four white socks he will be easily followed as he canters around the 1½ mile horseshoe shaped course.

Spar Mates Battered By Griffith

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Welterweight boxing champion Emile Griffith who makes ladies' hats in his spare time but is not a powder-puff puncher, is mapping knockout strategy for his first title defense against Mexico's Gaspar Ortega at Olympic Auditorium Saturday evening.

Griffith, not a panty-waist by any means, served notice of his intentions yesterday when he rocked two sparring partners with right hand shots at his training quarters in nearby Santa Monica.

He went two rounds against Al Grant, a welter, and Tiger Al Wiliams, a middleweight.

"He punches like a middleweight," said Tiger Al afterwards.

The champion, a native of the Virgin Islands who speaks with a slight English accent, said he was "very pleased" with his condition. He expects to wind up boxing tomorrow and will then taper off with light exercise.

New Senators Draw Better At The Gate

NEW YORK (AP)—The Washington Senators drew 41,977 paid for their three-game series with Minnesota and joined the New York Yankees and Cincinnati as the only big league clubs showing attendance increases over last season.

The new Senators have played before 161,130 in 17 home dates this year. In as many dates in 1960 their total was 153,771. The Yankees are up 36,000 and the Reds 8,000.

The Chicago White Sox have the largest deficit. They are 191,000 behind last season while the Los Angeles Dodgers trail their '60 aggregate by 167,000.

The Dodgers' 1961 total in after 21 home games was 433,052. The San Francisco Giants had drawn 410,937 after 19 games at Candlestick Park this year compared with 550,973 for the same number last season.

The Twins, who shifted from Washington during the winter, lead the American League with 340,267 customers for 24 home appearances. The new Los Angeles Angels have pulled 208,647 through the turnstiles for 23 home dates.

The overall National League total is 1,968,464—26 per cent under 1960. The American League's figure is 2,013,933 compared to 1,924,070 in 1960 when the circuit had eight teams.

McCovey's Looking Better

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Don't look now but Willie McCovey has the longest hitting streak of the San Francisco Giants.

Even if it is just four games, and even though Willie is hitting only .191, Manager Alvin Dark found it pleasant to contemplate after Cincinnati spoiled the Giants' homecoming yesterday with a 5-1 victory.

Rookie right-hander Ken Hunt (5-2) upset the Giants' equilibrium with a seven-hitter. Frank Robinson's three-run homer in the first inning, his 12th of the year, made a loser out of Mike McCormick (5-3).

McCovey got one hit in four trips but he swacked the ball solidly three times and he looks as though he's regained his confidence.

For the first time this year the fans, 10,852 of 'em cheered heartily each time McCovey appeared at the plate. The thought of that was the only thing that wrenched a smile from Dark, a fellow who hates to lose even when he's still leading the National League by two games.

The Reds and Giants played a doubleheader today, with the first game at 10:30 a.m. Jim Maloney (1-2) faced the Giants' Sam Jones (4-3) in the first game and the Reds' Jim O'Toole (4-4) was matched against Juan Marichal (2-1) in the second game.

Hunt ended a four-game Giant winning streak. There were Giants on base in every inning except the ninth but Hunt, with seven strikeouts, kept damage at a minimum.

The Giants' only run came in the fifth on singles by Charlie Hiller and Ed Bressoud and Felipe Alou's bounce-out.

Bressoud got to play shortstop because Joe Pagan bruised his left foot with a foul in the second inning. Bressoud went two for two.

Wally Post and Vada Pinson collided in short right center field on a pop fly hit by the Giants' Jim Marshall. Although both Post and Pinson were grounded for several minutes, Pinson held onto the ball and both he and Post stayed in the game.

Tigers Back Home After Winning Trip

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, hardly puffing after a 17-game road trip that did nothing at all to discourage their pennant hopes, settled down at home with a 3½-game lead as the American League race reached the Memorial Day mark.

The Tigers left home with a 2½-game edge. They padded it to five midway through the trip and even after losing three of their last four games, still arrived home better off than when they left. In all, they were 10-7 on the tour. Detroit now plays eight at home, goes to Chicago for two and then hustles back to Tiger Stadium for a 12-game stay.

ONLY GAME

Only one game was scheduled in the A.L. yesterday, and righthander Ike Delock of the Boston Red Sox pitched a five-hitter that beat New York 2-1 and ended Whitey Ford's winning streak at six. The loss dropped the third place Yankees five games behind Detroit going into today's single game at Boston.

The rest of the A.L.'s holiday schedule puts Minnesota at Cleveland for a pair with the second place Indians while fourth place Baltimore is at Chicago for two with the White Sox. The Los Angeles Angels are at Washington for a single game.

MANTLE HOMERS

The Yankees were shut out on two singles by Delock (3-1) until Mickey Mantle hit his 11th home run with one out in the seventh for a 1-1 tie. But Boston, after losing eight in a row to New York since last Sept. 6, put it away in the bottom of the seventh. Jackie Jensen, who had homered for the first run in the second inning, walked and came across on an infield out and a single by Vic Wertz.

Delock struck out seven and did not walk a man. Ford (6-2) gave up four hits and four walks while striking out eight in his seven innings.

Koufax Shows He Has Finally Arrived

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long wait is over for the Los Angeles Dodgers. Sandy Koufax has arrived with a bang, leading the National League with six victories and topping the majors in strikeouts while putting away the longest shutout streak of the season in either league.

The young left-hander, whose lack of control has overshadowed his firepower in the past, came up with his second consecutive three-hitter last night, out-dueling Larry Jackson for a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

That pushed the second-place Dodgers within 1½ games of front-running San Francisco after Cincinnati knocked off the Giants 5-1 in an afternoon game. No other games were scheduled.

In the only American League game Boston beat New York 2-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Ike Delock.

Koufax (6-2) now has won three in a row and six of his last seven decisions. He walked five and struck out 13 in this one, blanking the Cards until the ninth. A leadoff triple by Ken Boyer and a balk gave the Cards their run and ended Sandy's shutout string at 22 innings—before Koufax fanned Hal Smith with the tying run on first.

The Dodgers also scored on a balk as they put over both runs in the eighth. Jackson (1-4), whose lone victory was a 7-2 decision over the Dodgers, had a five-hit shutout for seven frames. Then a walk and two bunts loaded the bases. Relief ace Lindy McDaniel came on and balked, forcing in a run, before giving up a winning single by Willie Davis.

This was the eighth victory in 12 games for the Dodgers with all the victories by one run and kept them a half-game ahead of third place Cincinnati.

Halimi Defends His Half Of Bantam Title Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Alphonse Halimi, the Frenchman who holds half of the world bantamweight boxing title, steps into a London ring tonight to prove once again that he's no longer a circus performer—but a dedicated prize fighter.

Halimi defends his share of the world crown against John Caldwell, the Irish holder of the British flyweight crown and unbeaten in 21 pro fights.

It was three years ago that Halimi first won the world bantamweight title. Then he went on a circus tour of France. It was a big success. People loved his acts. All the time he kept supremely fit and ready to step into the ring at any time.

But Halimi, born in Constantine, Algeria, in June, 1932, suddenly found himself against Mexican Joe Becerra.

Becerra defeated the Frenchman and took the title. Halimi failed to win it back in a return seven months later.

Halimi immediately turned back to the dedicated business of earning his money by his fists. It paid off.

He won his half of the disputed world title by outpointing Ireland's Freddie Gilroy in London in October 1960.

The other half of the world title is held by Eder Jofre of Brazil. He's recognized in the United States. Halimi is recognized in Europe.

Dick Weber Extends Win Skein

HOUSTON (AP)—Dick Weber, the little man from St. Louis, is the first person in the history of the Professional Bowlers Association to win three consecutive tournaments.

Weber added the third yesterday when he beat Joe Joseph of Detroit in two games to win the $25,000 Fred Magee Classic.

The whispy bowler beat Joseph 205-200 in the first game and took the second, 222-200. The $3,000 first place money boosted his five-tournament total for the year to $6,430.

Joseph collected $2,500 for second place. Don Carter of St. Louis, the 1960 bowler of the year, finished third to win $2,000.

San Rafael Post Office Loses And Wins One

The San Rafael Post Office fielded two softball teams Friday night, winning at Richmond over the Richmond Post Office 18-5 and losing at San Anselmo to the San Anselmo Post Office 9-8.

The Richmond game was marked by the powerful batting of Bill Lasseter who hit two bases-loaded home runs and drove in 10 of the 18 runs scored by San Rafael.

In the other game, the San Anselmo Post Office capitalized on infield errors in the bottom of the last inning to score 4 runs and edge San Rafael.

Ketron's Fastest Two-Mile Good For 7th In Meet

Former Drake High athlete Doug Ketron ran the fastest two-mile of his track career at the Modesto Relays last weekend, turning in a 9:10.

The effort was good for seventh place for the Nevada University distance runner in a very fast field of 13.

Ketron's next effort will be in the three-mile in an AAU meet to be held June 10 at Stanford University.

Fullmer Hurts Hand; Fight Is Postponed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A cracked knuckle on champion Gene Fullmer's right hand has postponed his NBA middleweight title fight against Cuba's Florentino Fernandez.

The bout had been scheduled for July 8 at Ogden, Utah.

President Joe Dupler of the Intermountain Boxing Club said it now will be held and televised Aug. 5 in Ogden Stadium.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, said Fullmer first noticed something wrong with his hand Saturday. He skipped regular sparring work yesterday to get it examined.

A doctor said Fullmer had a tiny fracture in the knuckle of the middle finger of his right hand. He said the injury was not serious, but will prevent Fullmer from hard punching with it for three or four weeks.

Jenson said as far as he knows, Fullmer must have received the injury during regular sparring sessions sometime last week.

Young Boxer Badly Hurt

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young Cuban featherweight boxer knocked out in a preliminary bout last night was given less than a 50-50 chance to live today.

Jose Rigores, 25, collapsed in the dressing room at St. Nicholas Arena shortly after he was knocked out by Anselmo Castillo in the sixth and final round of their bout.

Rigores was rushed to Roosevelt Hospital where he underwent emergency surgery to relieve pressure from a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Robert Shick, a neurosurgeon, performed the 2½ hour craniotomy. Dr. Edwin Campbell, one of three New York State Athletic Commission doctors present during the operation, gave Rigores "less than a 50-50 chance to live."

It's Time For Woman's Horse To Win Derby

LONDON (AP)—Hunch players who believe that history goes in cycles will put a bet on a woman's horse winning the Epsom Derby tomorrow.

Here's the reason. Every sixth year since 1937, the great English classic for 3-year-olds has been won by a horse owned by women. It has been six years since it last happened.

The last woman to win the derby was Mrs. Suzy Volterra—with Phil Drake in 1955.

In 1949 Mrs. M. Glennister's Nimbus won. In 1943 it was Dorothy Paget's Straight Deal.

In 1937 Mrs. G. B. Miller's Mid-day Sun did it.

With one exception, male owners have won every other derby in that period. Mrs. MacDonald Buchanan broke the cycle by winning with Owen Tudor in 1941.

Of the first eight horses in the betting list, three are owned by women.

Mountiers, the favorite, is entered by Mrs. R. B. Strassburger, widow of the Norristown, Pa., publisher who tried and failed for 30 years to win the famed race on Epsom Downs.

Pandao, second favorite, carries the hopes of Mrs. C. O. Iselin of Glen Head, N. Y.

Dicta Drake is Mrs. Volterra's big hope for repeating her 1955 success. He's the son of the 1955 winner, Phil Drake.

The 6-year cycle is the kind of hunch that appeals to Britain's once-a-year bettors. Housewives and office girls who normally never bet on a horse race, find a fancy and have a flutter on the derby.

Other hunch bettors pick a horse by its color.

There is not a single black horse in the line-up this year, or a gray one either. But the dark horses literally are Sovrange, joint second favorite at 10-1, Rullahgeelash and Owen David, both 66-1 shots.

Bettors with a hunch for a chestnut horse will put their wagers on Mountiers. With four white socks he will be easily followed as he canters around the 1½ mile horseshoe shaped course.

Spar Mates Battered By Griffith

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Welterweight boxing champion Emile Griffith who makes ladies' hats in his spare time but is not a powder-puff puncher, is mapping knockout strategy for his first title defense against Mexico's Gaspar Ortega at Olympic Auditorium Saturday evening.

Griffith, not a panty-waist by any means, served notice of his intentions yesterday when he rocked two sparring partners with right hand shots at his training quarters in nearby Santa Monica.

He went two rounds against Al Grant, a welter, and Tiger Al Wiliams, a middleweight.

"He punches like a middleweight," said Tiger Al afterwards.

The champion, a native of the Virgin Islands who speaks with a slight English accent, said he was "very pleased" with his condition. He expects to wind up boxing tomorrow and will then taper off with light exercise.

New Senators Draw Better At The Gate

NEW YORK (AP)—The Washington Senators drew 41,977 paid for their three-game series with Minnesota and joined the New York Yankees and Cincinnati as the only big league clubs showing attendance increases over last season.

The new Senators have played before 161,130 in 17 home dates this year. In as many dates in 1960 their total was 153,771. The Yankees are up 36,000 and the Reds 8,000.

The Chicago White Sox have the largest deficit. They are 191,000 behind last season while the Los Angeles Dodgers trail their '60 aggregate by 167,000.

The Dodgers' 1961 total in after 21 home games was 433,052. The San Francisco Giants had drawn 410,937 after 19 games at Candlestick Park this year compared with 550,973 for the same number last season.

The Twins, who shifted from Washington during the winter, lead the American League with 340,267 customers for 24 home appearances. The new Los Angeles Angels have pulled 208,647 through the turnstiles for 23 home dates.

The overall National League total is 1,968,464—26 per cent under 1960. The American League's figure is 2,013,933 compared to 1,924,070 in 1960 when the circuit had eight teams.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Fishermen Don't Always Go Out After Fish They May Or May Not Catch

STEVENS

Edna May Anderson, a writer friend of mine, phoned to say: "Look Steve, why not tell your readers that if they take Highway 49, heading to Bowman Lake, they may or may not catch a mess of trout, but if they have poetry in their souls, they will catch a glimpse of some fabulous scenery. The sides of the hills are a mass of blooming Scotch Broom, and contrasting with that vivid color is the mountain lilac. It makes a picture no artist could paint."

So, I've told my readers, Edna! Make no mistake, I might add, not everybody goes on a fishing trip solely for the fish they may or may not catch. Flocks of them will be driving Highway 49 to fill their mental creels with nature's beauty.

Of course it's nice to also catch fish on a fishing trip, and that is what the many anglers who have been trolling the Alcatraz - Racoon Strait have been doing regularly the past week. Ditto for the lads and lassies who trailed anchovies back of one of the party boats out of Berkeley, Sausalito and S.F. Ditto for the guys and gals who have gone out after catfish in the Delta region.

Dutch Crawford, pinchhitter for Hal Boenner of the Lee Anderson Shop in Oakland reported the following: "Salmon trolling in the area about three miles east of the Farralones, was very good on Saturday—lots of fish and of good size. Bass trolling, mainly with white Bug-eyes and pork rind or hulu skirts in the Racoon Strait-Alcatraz sector has been fabulous. The Sea Bee had 12 bass to 14 pounds today; The Sea Horse docked with eight bass to 15 pounds.

THE PRIVATEER unloaded 14 stripers to 23 pounds, the Ge Ge, with only three passengers, collected five bass to 12 pounds. But the prize report was from Joe De Silva and his boat, the Cherokee. Trolling in Racoon Strait, Joe netted six limits of bass to 14 pounds, one ling cod, one blue cod (cabezone) and one red cod. The R.S.P. took 21 bass to 16 pounds and the Troller had seven limits to 14 pounds . . . All taken either off Alcatraz or in the Racoon Strait."

Upstream in the Buoy 5 area to Buoy 12, for some unknown reason, according to Frank Joseph of Rodeo, the best fishing has been during the last of the ebb tides—that is, the larger fish have been taken usually when the afternoon winds made sitting in a rowboat anything but pleasant. Frank Joseph told me the mass of small fish have taken over most of the time. "One chap was out Saturday and had fed five pounds of sardines to the little fellows without being able to keep even one.

Frank also reported one chap bringing in a fair sized halibut (that's the third report of a halibut being taken in the upper San Pablo Bay). He declared it is the first time he has ever seen a halibut taken that far upstream.

APPARENTLY the F&G gentlemen will make no change in the bag or size limits of stripers yet awhile. That's too bad! Also, at their recent meeting they turned down any change in the deer hunting status of Northern California. The protests of a majority of sportsmen's groups, combined with the opinions of Eddie Bruce, president of the California Wildlife Federation, and William Dassman, of the U.S. Forest Service, seems to have induced the refusal to consider the closure requested by Henry Klineschmidt and Charles Bull, of Redding.

Usually the commission's "determinations" stand as suggested, but this year some of the game seasons were extended from those originally determined. So it would appear that enough voices, protesting enough, do have some effect on that vaunted body of rules and regulations determiners.

DON'T FORGET those beautiful minus tides this week, you gatherers of abalones and clams! And that's it for today.

Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Baseball Injury Proves Fatal For Batboy, 10

CHICAGO (AP)—George McCormick's enthusiasm for playing baseball was unbounded.

His father said he loved the game more than anything. So did the manager of a park district team for boys of 9 to 12 in suburban Park Ridge.

The 10-year-old boy's burning ambition was to become a pitcher or an infielder with the Brooks team of the Park Ridge boys baseball organization.

But the team's manager, Julian Stachowski, 38, told the slight, tow-headed lad who wore glasses with thick lens, he couldn't see well enough to make the team.

"George wasn't good enough to play regularly," Stachowski said, "but he was so eager I made him bat boy because I didn't have the heart to send him away."

It was while serving as bat boy during the team's practice last Wednesday that George was hit by a line drive while standing near the pitcher's mound. He was retrieving balls thrown back from the outfield and handing them to Stachowski, who was pitching. George, the boy with the bad eyes, apparently did not see the ball hit by Paul Weege, 12. It struck him in the right temple.

He didn't fall down or cry. Stachowski took him to the bench and put some water on his head. He appeared all right, the manager said. But he sent him home and then called George's father, Donald, a church caretaker and a scoutmaster, and told him what happened.

George's father came to the team's practice last Friday and told Stachowski that George had become ill at home, and the family physician reported he had a concussion.

He was taken to a hospital Sunday and underwent surgery. He died yesterday of brain hemorrhage.

"I don't want this to become a black mark against Little League baseball," said George's father. "I think it is a good thing."

Giants Sign Catcher For Undisclosed Bonus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants announced yesterday they had signed Sherrile Lang Craig, 18-year-old catcher from Roanoke, Va., for an "undisclosed bonus."

Giant farm director Jack Schwartz said Craig is a 180-pound, 6-foot 2-inch youth who throws and bats right handed.

PONY LEAGUE OPENS WITH NO HITTER

The Kentfield Greenbrae Firemen Pony League Team of Southern Marin Sunday opened the season with a no hitter at Kentfield that defeated Twin Cities 8 to 0.

Feature highlight of the game was the no hit, no run pitching of Steve Jackson, who only faced 20 men in the abbreviated 6 inning game. Only three men came to bat in each inning except the 4th, when the first two men reached base on errors.

They were then rubbed out by a brilliant double play started by third baseman Tom Soden. Catcher Dave Auerbach was the batting star with two for three. Kentfield next plays Mill Valley Sox at Mill Valley.

Carbo's Fate Still Pends With Jurors

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A federal grand jury deciding the fate of Frankie Carbo and four others accused of conspiracy and extortion resumes deliberations today, despite the Memorial Day holiday.

Late yesterday the jury of 10 women and two men asked to have certain portions of the testimony read to them from the court record.

Uclan Cager Quits School In Bribe Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ron Lawson, UCLA basketball star, has quit school after admittedly being approached by gamblers.

The 19-year-old sophomore's name was added yesterday to the swelling list of college basketball players who either cooperated with professional gamblers or failed to report bribery attempts.

Wilbur Johns, director of athletics at UCLA, said yesterday that Lawson voluntarily quit the campus for failing to report immediately to his coaches that he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers.

Lawson, from Nashville, Tenn., appeared before the New York grand jury last week in connection with its investigation into point shaving by college basketball players.

"Lawson appeared voluntarily," Johns said. "Since his return, he has told us he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers, but that he did not ever shave points in a game."

In Nashville, Lawson said: "The only wrong thing I did was failing to report the approach. Why I didn't report it, I just don't know."

Lawson said he was not allowed to say what UCLA game the bribe attempt was aimed and how much he was offered to shave points. He said he did not shave any points.

The player said that after appearing before the grand jury he discussed the incident with CCLA officials and then decided to drop out of school.

WILLIAM POULOPOULOS,

Giants Haven't Had All Luck; Hits And Hustling Contributions

HANLEY

So the Giants, maintain many and rightly so, have been lucky in numerous games thus far in the still young 1961 season. But it hasn't all been luck predicated upon enemy errors, even in those three recent road victories on unearned runs.

Take, for example, the 3-2 win in the 13th over the Cubs in Wrigley Field last Friday. The 13th started with Jose Pagan topping a slow bouncer down the third base line. Ron Santo charged the ball on the infield grass but couldn't come up with it. He drew an error but the speeding Pagan forced him into hurrying the play. It just as easily could have been called a hit as an error because any play Santo would have had at first would have been very close.

So actually it was Pagan's hustling that got his on first—on an error in the official scorer's judgement — but still on first. Joe Amalfitano's sacrifice didn't work but by hustling he beat the DP throw and there still was a man on first, this time with one down.

Felipe Alou then contributed his third hit of the game, a line drive up the right center slot that almost got between center fielder George Altman and right fielder Billy Williams for extra bases. Altman did a fine job of holding it to a single and holding Amalfitano on second.

NOW, CAME a master clutch hitter, Harvey Kuenn, who had driven in the tieing 1-1 run in the eighth. Once again, Alvin Dark flashed him the hit-run signal which started Amalfitano and Alou in motion as soon as Don Elston started his pitch.

Kuenn, the former American League batting champ who had assured Dark this spring that he would be "whittling away" whenever he got the hit-run sign, laced Elston's pitch into right field—a perfectly placed hit behind the runners.

WILLIAMS' first thought, and the proper one, was to make the play at the plate. But the rookie right fielder apparently was unaware of the hit-run phase of the play. He probably got a peek of Amalfitano midway between third and home and perhaps that compelled him to try a little extra on his throw to the plate—not a difficult throw from where he fielded Kuenn's single in medium right.

In any event, even an on-target, plate - splitting peg would not have caught Amalfitano. As it was, Williams' throw sailed wide of Cub catcher Dick Bertell and by the time Elston caught up with it as it rebounded off the brick backstop, Alou was across with what proved to be the winning run when the Cubs got one in their end of the 13th.

So it wasn't merely a matter of Cub errors. The Giants, with hustling, pressure baseball, played a fine hand in forcing them.

IT ISN'T ALL luck. Never has been with a consistent winner of the tight ones. Never will be. Any pro, in football, baseball or any sport, will tell you that you must make your own breaks in the squeaking victories.

The Pirates were accused of being a lucky outfit in winning squeaker after squeaker last year on their way to the pennant. Don't you believe it. They were a hustling ball club that kept the pressure on the enemy from start to finish, forcing opposition mistakes.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Edna May Anderson, a writer friend of mine, phoned to say: "Look Steve, why not tell your readers that if they take Highway 49, heading to Bowman Lake, they may or may not catch a mess of trout, but if they have poetry in their souls, they will catch a glimpse of some fabulous scenery. The sides of the hills are a mass of blooming Scotch Broom, and contrasting with that vivid color is the mountain lilac. It makes a picture no artist could paint."

So, I've told my readers, Edna! Make no mistake, I might add, not everybody goes on a fishing trip solely for the fish they may or may not catch. Flocks of them will be driving Highway 49 to fill their mental creels with nature's beauty.

Of course it's nice to also catch fish on a fishing trip, and that is what the many anglers who have been trolling the Alcatraz - Racoon Strait have been doing regularly the past week. Ditto for the lads and lassies who trailed anchovies back of one of the party boats out of Berkeley, Sausalito and S.F. Ditto for the guys and gals who have gone out after catfish in the Delta region.

Dutch Crawford, pinchhitter for Hal Boenner of the Lee Anderson Shop in Oakland reported the following: "Salmon trolling in the area about three miles east of the Farralones, was very good on Saturday—lots of fish and of good size. Bass trolling, mainly with white Bug-eyes and pork rind or hulu skirts in the Racoon Strait-Alcatraz sector has been fabulous. The Sea Bee had 12 bass to 14 pounds today; The Sea Horse docked with eight bass to 15 pounds.

THE PRIVATEER unloaded 14 stripers to 23 pounds, the Ge Ge, with only three passengers, collected five bass to 12 pounds. But the prize report was from Joe De Silva and his boat, the Cherokee. Trolling in Racoon Strait, Joe netted six limits of bass to 14 pounds, one ling cod, one blue cod (cabezone) and one red cod. The R.S.P. took 21 bass to 16 pounds and the Troller had seven limits to 14 pounds . . . All taken either off Alcatraz or in the Racoon Strait."

Upstream in the Buoy 5 area to Buoy 12, for some unknown reason, according to Frank Joseph of Rodeo, the best fishing has been during the last of the ebb tides—that is, the larger fish have been taken usually when the afternoon winds made sitting in a rowboat anything but pleasant. Frank Joseph told me the mass of small fish have taken over most of the time. "One chap was out Saturday and had fed five pounds of sardines to the little fellows without being able to keep even one.

Frank also reported one chap bringing in a fair sized halibut (that's the third report of a halibut being taken in the upper San Pablo Bay). He declared it is the first time he has ever seen a halibut taken that far upstream.

APPARENTLY the F&G gentlemen will make no change in the bag or size limits of stripers yet awhile. That's too bad! Also, at their recent meeting they turned down any change in the deer hunting status of Northern California. The protests of a majority of sportsmen's groups, combined with the opinions of Eddie Bruce, president of the California Wildlife Federation, and William Dassman, of the U.S. Forest Service, seems to have induced the refusal to consider the closure requested by Henry Klineschmidt and Charles Bull, of Redding.

Usually the commission's "determinations" stand as suggested, but this year some of the game seasons were extended from those originally determined. So it would appear that enough voices, protesting enough, do have some effect on that vaunted body of rules and regulations determiners.

DON'T FORGET those beautiful minus tides this week, you gatherers of abalones and clams! And that's it for today.

Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Uclan Cager Quits School In Bribe Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ron Lawson, UCLA basketball star, has quit school after admittedly being approached by gamblers.

The 19-year-old sophomore's name was added yesterday to the swelling list of college basketball players who either cooperated with professional gamblers or failed to report bribery attempts.

Wilbur Johns, director of athletics at UCLA, said yesterday that Lawson voluntarily quit the campus for failing to report immediately to his coaches that he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers.

Lawson, from Nashville, Tenn., appeared before the New York grand jury last week in connection with its investigation into point shaving by college basketball players.

"Lawson appeared voluntarily," Johns said. "Since his return, he has told us he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers, but that he did not ever shave points in a game."

In Nashville, Lawson said: "The only wrong thing I did was failing to report the approach. Why I didn't report it, I just don't know."

Lawson said he was not allowed to say what UCLA game the bribe attempt was aimed and how much he was offered to shave points. He said he did not shave any points.

The player said that after appearing before the grand jury he discussed the incident with CCLA officials and then decided to drop out of school.

Giants Haven't Had All Luck; Hits And Hustling Contributions

HANLEY

So the Giants, maintain many and rightly so, have been lucky in numerous games thus far in the still young 1961 season. But it hasn't all been luck predicated upon enemy errors, even in those three recent road victories on unearned runs.

Baseball Injury Proves Fatal For Batboy, 10

CHICAGO (AP)—George McCormick's enthusiasm for playing baseball was unbounded.

His father said he loved the game more than anything. So did the manager of a park district team for boys of 9 to 12 in suburban Park Ridge.

The 10-year-old boy's burning ambition was to become a pitcher or an infielder with the Brooks team of the Park Ridge boys baseball organization.

But the team's manager, Julian Stachcowski, 38, told the slight, tow-headed lad who wore glasses with thick lens, he couldn't see well enough to make the team.

"George wasn't good enough to play regularly," Stachowski said, "but he was so eager I made him bat boy because I didn't have the heart to send him away."

It was while serving as bat boy during the team's practice last Wednesday that George was hit by a line drive while standing near the pitcher's mound. He was retrieving balls thrown back from the outfield and handing them to Stachowski, who was pitching. George, the boy with the bad eyes, apparently did not see the ball hit by Paul Weege, 12. It struck him in the right temple.

He didn't fall down or cry. Stachowski took him to the bench and put some water on his head. He appeared all right, the manager said. But he sent him home and then called George's father, Donald, a church caretaker and a scoutmaster, and told him what happened.

George's father came to the team's practice last Friday and told Stachowski that George had become ill at home, and the family physician reported he had a concussion.

He was taken to a hospital Sunday and underwent surgery. He died yesterday of brain hemorrhage.

"I don't want this to become a black mark against Little League baseball," said George's father. "I think it is a good thing."

Giants Sign Catcher For Undisclosed Bonus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants announced yesterday they had signed Sherrile Lang Craig, 18-year-old catcher from Roanoke, Va., for an "undisclosed bonus."

Giant farm director Jack Schwartz said Craig is a 180-pound, 6-foot 2-inch youth who throws and bats right handed.

PONY LEAGUE OPENS WITH NO HITTER

The Kentfield Greenbrae Firemen Pony League Team of Southern Marin Sunday opened the season with a no hitter at Kentfield that defeated Twin Cities 8 to 0.

Feature highlight of the game was the no hit, no run pitching of Steve Jackson, who only faced 20 men in the abbreviated 6 inning game. Only three men came to bat in each inning except the 4th, when the first two men reached base on errors.

They were then rubbed out by a brilliant double play started by third baseman Tom Soden. Catcher Dave Auerbach was the batting star with two for three. Kentfield next plays Mill Valley Sox at Mill Valley.

Carbo's Fate Still Pends With Jurors

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A federal grand jury deciding the fate of Frankie Carbo and four others accused of conspiracy and extortion resumes deliberations today, despite the Memorial Day holiday.

Late yesterday the jury of 10 women and two men asked to have certain portions of the testimony read to them from the court record.

WILLIAM POULOPOULOS, Mill Valley physical therapist, won the Greenbrae Lanes Jackpot Bowling Contest Sunday by firing nine straight strikes in a row. Seven straight strikes in a row were required to break the bank over $200. Poulopoulos did it in the first seven frames.

Korea Junta Hits Snag In Plan To Create New Law

Constitution Revising Proposal In A Muddle

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's ruling junta was reported in a deepening legal muddle today over how to legalize its freeze on parliamentary government.

Plans to suspend the existing constitution and proclaim a new supreme law today or tomorrow apparently hit a snag.

The junta's supreme council announced the appointment of Yu Chin-oh, the nation's top constitutional authority, as supreme adviser to its planning committee.

Yu, president of Korea University, is principal author of Korea's original 1948 constitution which was drastically revised last year.

Lt. General Chang Do-young, premier and chairman of the junta council, told a reporter the constitutional question is still being reviewed by top experts "in order not to collide with the existing constitution and to pay respect to its authority."

The junta planning committee headed by Lt. Gen. Ham Pyungsun includes in its ranks nearly 100 civilian legal experts, economists and college professors.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green conferred with Foreign Minister Kim Hong-il. Details were not disclosed but it was assumed Green sought information on constitutional discussion in view of the U.S. policy of backing South Korea in the United Nations as the legitimate government of Korea.

South Korea's present constitution, which has been stretched to the breaking point since the May 16 coup, contains no provision for suspension.

FBI Is Silent In Probe Of Utah Blasts

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —FBI agents investigating the destruction of three telephone relay stations kept mum on their progress today while armed guards patrolled scores of other such facilities in the West and Midwest.

Telephone crews, using portable equipment, expected to restore service today at the two microwave and one cable relay stations destroyed by a mystery dynamiter in Utah and Nevada early Sunday.

WAR II GEAR

Col. C. M. MacGregor, commander of western Utah's Tooele Ordnance Depot, said Tooele demolition experts had tabbed the explosive used as World War II demolition gear.

"Since 1945," Col. MacGregor said, "undisclosed amounts of such explosives have been sold in America through standard surplus property disposal offices."

Col. MacGregor said because of this, he doubted that officials could trace the origin of the charges.

COLONEL TALKS

The colonel was about the only source close to the investigation who would talk. The FBI was non-commital.

Utah's National Guard commander, Maj. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, said he felt the blasts could have been the work of some foreign agent—"to see what we would do, to check our reaction."

Utah Gov. George D. Clyde was inclined to agree.

Paris Verdict On Generals Is Expected

PARIS (UPI)—The French general who led an unsuccessful military revolt five weeks ago says the French Army is in "despair" over President Charles de Gaulle's "abandonment" of Algeria.

The claim was made by former Gen. Maurice Challe at his trial yesterday in defense of the April 22 Algiers insurrection—and the prosecution was expected to try its best to refute it.

The trial was resuming today with testimony from nine prosecution and nine defense witnesses. The verdict was expected to be handed down tomorrow, with sentencing to follow immediately if they are convicted. The charges carry a maximum penalty of death but most observers doubted it would be invoked.

Challe, 55, former commander-in-chief in Algeria and former NATO commander for Central Europe, and retired Gen. Andre-Mairie Zeller, 63, former army chief of staff, are on trial for their roles in the insurrection.

Zeller started to read a statement to the special military tribunal yesterday but collapsed as he reached the words "France needs Algeria." He was carried out of the court room and a recess was called.

Court Told How Deal Fell Through On Jews, Trucks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann's offer to trade one million Jewish lives for 10,000 trucks in World War II collapsed after the British arrested Joel Brand, the Jew who tried to arrange the deal, the court trying Eichmann for mass murder was told today.

Brand testified that he was arrested by the British at Aleppo in Syria in May, 1944, after he went to try to contact Jewish agency leaders in Palestine. He said he was held four-and-a-half months in jail and was not allowed to return to Budapest.

Brand, a stocky figure with thinning reddish hair, completed the story of Eichmann's offer which he began telling yesterday.

After he described his arrest Israeli chief prosecutor Gideon Hausner asked Brand "and this was the end of your mission?"

Brand replied, "No. For me there was no end."

Hausner: "But you did not return to Hungary?"

Brand: "No. I was not allowed to return to Hungary."

Brand told the court he was sent by the Nazis by plane to Istanbul to put to Jewish agency leaders Eichmann's offer to save one million Jews from the gas chambers in exchange for 10,000 winterized trucks for the Eastern front.

He said he was accompanied by Bondi Gross, another Hungarian Jew who, according to Brand, had close contacts with the Germans.

"I think his task was to keep an eye on me and also to contact the British and American authorities," Brand said.

Gross also lives in Israel today.

Brand testified that when they were under arrest later Gross "started shouting that we were all fools and didn't know what was happening and that, in fact, the purpose for our trip was to contact the Allies about making peace and that the blood for goods deal was merely a cover."

School Site Talk

LITTLE RED SCHOOL — The old fashioned Nicasio school still stands near the new two-room building. This one, built in 1871, is kept freshly painted by the district in the traditional red school house color. (Independent-Journal photos)

Era Of 1-Room School Drawing To Close

By ELLEN BRY

The era of the one-room school is drawing to a close in North Marin.

Trustees of four small districts are considering merging to form a large "rural district" or attaching themselves to an existing district.

Trustees speak of the move as inevitable. But they agree that "we'd like to keep our own school for as long as we can," as Mrs. Peter Giacomelli, trustees of Union Joint School District, puts it.

Any merger is presumed to mean closing of the one-room schools and sending youngsters to a larger school.

The announced policy of the state Board of Education is toward unification (a unified district has one governing board for kindergarten through high school). In each county, there is a County Committee on School District Organization which must have a proposal for unification to the state board by 1963.

More immediately there is the report of an outside survey team which recommended to the Petaluma High School District that most of its 15 separate elementtary school districts, including three in Marin, be unified in one district.

The Burdell district was left out in the recommendation, because of its closeness to the Novato Unified School District. Included were Laguna, Lincoln and Union districts. Parts of Laguna and Union are in Sonoma County.

Unification with Petaluma would mean more chance for elementary children from the one-room schools to have courses such as music, art, physical education, industrial arts and homemaking, better guidance and counseling services, the report says. Its points hold true for merger into any larger district.

There would be more equipment available, such as libraries, records, audio-visual equipment, the report to the Petaluma board by Booz, Allen and Hamilton, San Francisco management consultants, says.

The Sonoma County Committees on School District Organization have set a meeting to discuss the report for 8 p.m. June 6 at Old Adobe School.

The Marin County committee is considering at least two proposals: A county-wide unified school district or unification within the present high school districts. The latter would mean unification of Burdell, Laguna, Lincoln and Union elementary districts with Petaluma High School District.

In any case the one-room school districts would lose the astonishingly high representation of their trustee boards.

Today a three-man board (three-woman in the case of the Union Joint School District) sets policy, hires teachers, sometimes gets relatives to paint the schoolhouse. The 10 to 14 pupils in each school, who usually have parents on the board, are children of ranchers in the district.

The unification reports have triggered one trustee, Arnold Dolcini of Lincoln School District, to spearhead an attempt to form a large "rural district" within Marin, with children from Lincoln, Laguna, Burdell and Union districts attending the Nicasio School, which would have to be expanded.

The Nicasio district has a two-room building constructed in 1952, replacing the old-fashioned school house which still stands next to it. Its two teachers instruct 52 pupils in grades one through eight. The district is within Tamalpais Union High School District. Graduates go to Drake High in San Anselmo.

Nicasio trustees have didscussed the proposition of a merged district, but have reached "no definite conclusions," trustees Roy R. Bunt reported.

He indicated there is enough land to expand the school. The additional pupils could make possible "more activities" for youngsters, he said.

Some districts would prefer to have their students attend school together through the eighth grade, as would be possible in Nicasio. But for students living near the Marin-Sonoma border, it would be a long bus ride to Nicasio and a longer one to Drake High.

By next year, under the present system, all seventh through 12th grade students in the four districts will be attending Petaluma schools.

Whether the "little schools joined with Petaluma, Novato Unified or formed a new elementary district, tax rates would probably rise, trustees believe.

But also in the future is the prediction that the cost of the one-room school system to the rancher will rise. The cost alone of sending students to Petaluma junior high schools will continue to rise about 5 per cent a year until the districts are paying full cost of education.

Up to recent years, the districts have paid tuition equal to the cost of education in the one-room school, which was less than the junior high education cost. Tuition is paid because, officially, students are under the jurisdiction of the elementary district through eighth grade.

A rundown of school district positions:

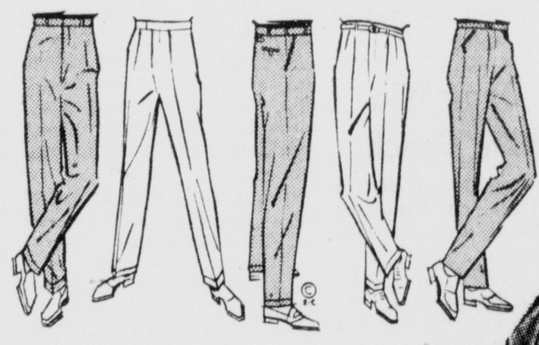

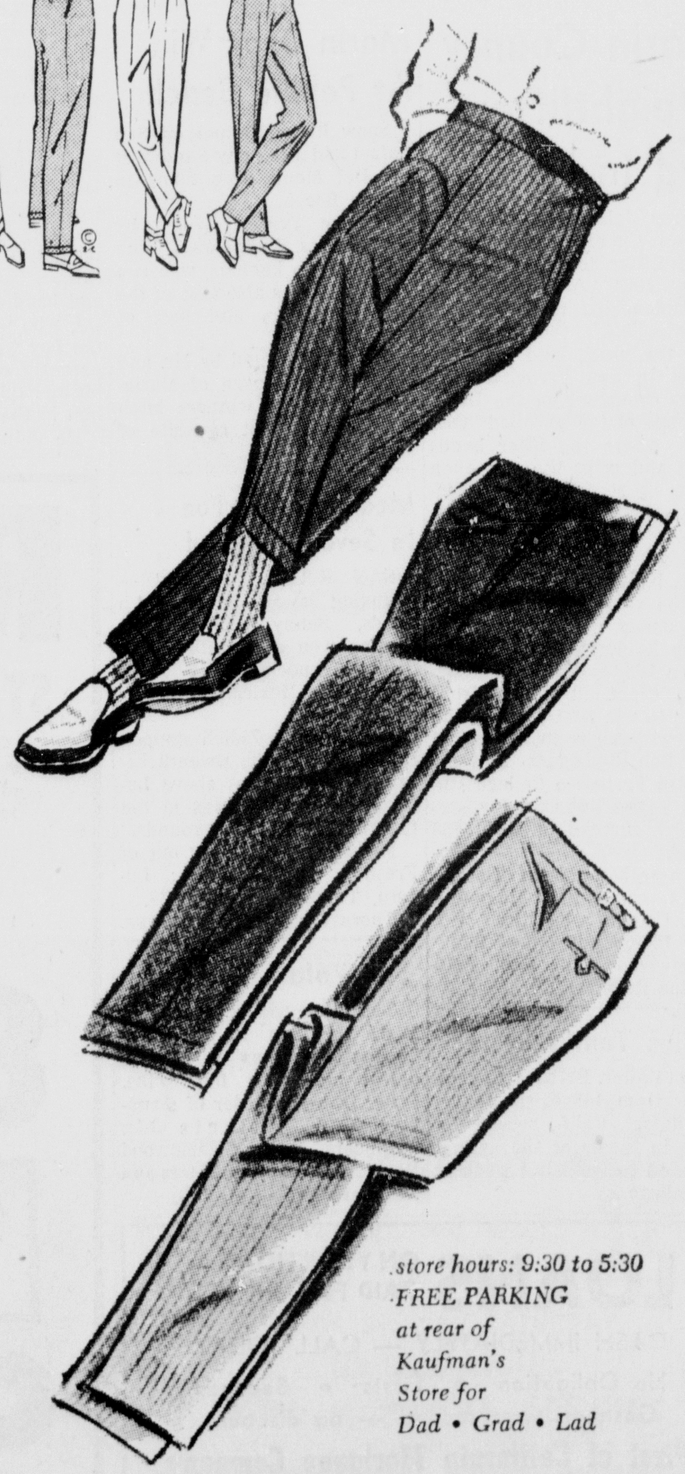

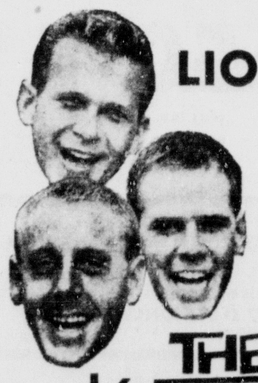

BURDELL — "Within the next year, something has to be worked out," says trustee James Grossi. The Burdell School was burned down in 1958 by young arsonists. Eleven students in grades one through eight since then have been taught in a rented room in Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato. Pupils through sixth grade next year will go to Lincoln School and seventh and eighth graders will go to Petaluma Junior High School.

LINCOLN — There now are 10 students in the one-room Lincoln School on Wilson Hill Road, a half mile off the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road. The number will be swelled next year by students from the Burdell District attending through an inter-district agreement.

UNION JOINT — The word "joint" means the district is in two counties, Marin and Sonoma. Its 14 students attend a one-room school more than 50 years old, complete with bell tower.

"It's well kept," says trustee Mrs. Peter Giacomelli. "We'd like to keep our own school for as long as we can."

LAGUNA JOINT—Like Union Joint, the district cuts over the Sonoma-Marin line. Ranchers in the district shop in Petaluma and are oriented toward Sonoma County, trustee Mrs. E. F. Terribilini says.

Korea Junta Hits Snag In Plan To Create New Law

Constitution Revising Proposal In A Muddle

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's ruling junta was reported in a deepening legal muddle today over how to legalize its freeze on parliamentary government.

Plans to suspend the existing constitution and proclaim a new supreme law today or tomorrow apparently hit a snag.

The junta's supreme council announced the appointment of Yu Chin-oh, the nation's top constitutional authority, as supreme adviser to its planning committee.

Yu, president of Korea University, is principal author of Korea's original 1948 constitution which was drastically revised last year.

Lt. General Chang Do-young, premier and chairman of the junta council, told a reporter the constitutional question is still being reviewed by top experts "in order not to collide with the existing constitution and to pay respect to its authority."

The junta planning committee headed by Lt. Gen. Ham Pyungsun includes in its ranks nearly 100 civilian legal experts, economists and college professors.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green conferred with Foreign Minister Kim Hong-il. Details were not disclosed but it was assumed Green sought information on constitutional discussion in view of the U.S. policy of backing South Korea in the United Nations as the legitimate government of Korea.

South Korea's present constitution, which has been stretched to the breaking point since the May 16 coup, contains no provision for suspension.

FBI Is Silent In Probe Of Utah Blasts

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —FBI agents investigating the destruction of three telephone relay stations kept mum on their progress today while armed guards patrolled scores of other such facilities in the West and Midwest.

Telephone crews, using portable equipment, expected to restore service today at the two microwave and one cable relay stations destroyed by a mystery dynamiter in Utah and Nevada early Sunday.

WAR II GEAR

Col. C. M. MacGregor, commander of western Utah's Tooele Ordnance Depot, said Tooele demolition experts had tabbed the explosive used as World War II demolition gear.

"Since 1945," Col. MacGregor said, "undisclosed amounts of such explosives have been sold in America through standard surplus property disposal offices."

Col. MacGregor said because of this, he doubted that officials could trace the origin of the charges.

COLONEL TALKS

The colonel was about the only source close to the investigation who would talk. The FBI was non-commital.

Utah's National Guard commander, Maj. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, said he felt the blasts could have been the work of some foreign agent—"to see what we would do, to check our reaction."

Utah Gov. George D. Clyde was inclined to agree.

Paris Verdict On Generals Is Expected

PARIS (UPI)—The French general who led an unsuccessful military revolt five weeks ago says the French Army is in "despair" over President Charles de Gaulle's "abandonment" of Algeria.

The claim was made by former Gen. Maurice Challe at his trial yesterday in defense of the April 22 Algiers insurrection—and the prosecution was expected to try its best to refute it.

The trial was resuming today with testimony from nine prosecution and nine defense witnesses. The verdict was expected to be handed down tomorrow, with sentencing to follow immediately if they are convicted. The charges carry a maximum penalty of death but most observers doubted it would be invoked.

Challe, 55, former commander-in-chief in Algeria and former NATO commander for Central Europe, and retired Gen. Andre-Mairie Zeller, 63, former army chief of staff, are on trial for their roles in the insurrection.

Zeller started to read a statement to the special military tribunal yesterday but collapsed as he reached the words "France needs Algeria." He was carried out of the court room and a recess was called.

Court Told How Deal Fell Through On Jews, Trucks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann's offer to trade one million Jewish lives for 10,000 trucks in World War II collapsed after the British arrested Joel Brand, the Jew who tried to arrange the deal, the court trying Eichmann for mass murder was told today.

Brand testified that he was arrested by the British at Aleppo in Syria in May, 1944, after he went to try to contact Jewish agency leaders in Palestine. He said he was held four-and-a-half months in jail and was not allowed to return to Budapest.

Brand, a stocky figure with thinning reddish hair, completed the story of Eichmann's offer which he began telling yesterday.

After he described his arrest Israeli chief prosecutor Gideon Hausner asked Brand "and this was the end of your mission?"

Brand replied, "No. For me there was no end."

Hausner: "But you did not return to Hungary?"

Brand: "No. I was not allowed to return to Hungary."

Brand told the court he was sent by the Nazis by plane to Istanbul to put to Jewish agency leaders Eichmann's offer to save one million Jews from the gas chambers in exchange for 10,000 winterized trucks for the Eastern front.

He said he was accompanied by Bondi Gross, another Hungarian Jew who, according to Brand, had close contacts with the Germans.

"I think his task was to keep an eye on me and also to contact the British and American authorities," Brand said.

Gross also lives in Israel today.

Brand testified that when they were under arrest later Gross "started shouting that we were all fools and didn't know what was happening and that, in fact, the purpose for our trip was to contact the Allies about making peace and that the blood for goods deal was merely a cover."

HIGHLIGHT of the final luncheon meeting until fall for Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club was installation of Mrs. Alvin P. Baukol as 49th president. Standing before the microphone is past club president Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman, who conducted the installation. Seated from left, are Mesdames Harvey Klyce, only living founder of the club; Philip T. Smith, retiring president, and Mrs. Baukol.

PHOTOGRAPHED in the patio of the Outdoor Art Club just before their installation were, from left, Mesdames Robert Cook, corresponding secretary; Edward Johnson, first vice president; William Searles, second vice president and program chairman; Kenyon Spalding, recording secretary; Ralph Martindale, business secretary, and E. Plight Of Our Neighbors Told Society By Mrs. James Pike

With their salad luncheon, members and friends of the St. Stephen's Holy Faith Society last week were asked a question: "Who is my neighbor?"

The question was posed by Mrs. James Pike, wife of the Bishop of the Diocese of California, who asked the group in Whittaker Hall, Belvedere, to consider how their Christian faith related them to the world's underprivileged—their "neighbors."

Mrs. Pike spoke particularly of the plight of some 2,500,000 persons still homeless in refugee camps, the victims of World War II and the postwar.

She and her husband toured refugee camps in the Holy Land and Europe, and she told of young people approaching them with the question: "What is wrong with us? Why won't you take us?"

Present U. S. laws, Mrs. Pike said, make refugee families unacceptable in this country if one member of a family suffers from tuberculosis or mental illness.

She cited the cases of other nations which have helped refugees handicapped in this and other ways: Sweden has provided cures, homes and jobs for TB victims, and France and Belgium have given help to the blind.

If you are concerned, she told luncheon guests, write your congressman about U. S. refugee legislation.

If you wish to help refugees already in this country, she suggested, seek them out, offer friendship, get them to come to your church.

There are many facets to neighborliness, she said, emphasizing the contribution women can make by raising their children in Christian ways.

Faith, she said, should give perspective to your concern for your neighbors.

Mrs. Pike, former student of law and the mother of four children, was introduced by Mrs. William Ballard. Mrs. Maurice Glazer, president of the Holy Faith Society, presided at the luncheon.

Mrs. Alvin Baukol Installed As 49th Outdoor Art Club President

Mrs. Alvin P. Baukol was installed Thursday as the 49th president of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, together with the 1961-62 board of directors, at the club's final luncheon meeting until Fall.

Nearly a hundred members attended.

Highlights of the luncheon were brief talks by Mrs. Harvey Klyce, only living founder of the club (one of the largest and oldest in the state), Mrs. Baukol and Mrs. Philip T. Smith, retiring president, who presided.

Installed by past club president Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman with Mrs. Baukol were Mesdames Edward Johnson, first vice president; William Searles, second vice president; Kenyon Spalding, recording secretary; Robert Cook, corresponding secretary; Ralph Martindale, business secretary, and E. M. Tobin, treasurer.

Directors installed were Mesdames M. A. Leonis, finance chairman; John Giuliani, house; Blythe Adams, rentals; John Nahapiet, membership; Russell Mills, grounds; Gerhart Becker, community service; A. B. Goddard, ways and means; R. L. Inglehart, civics and conservation; Robert Graver, cultural arts, and Elvira Becker, publicity and historian.

In appreciation of her year's leadership Mrs. Edmund Manon, retiring first vice president, presented Mrs. Smith, on behalf of the club, with a silver tray engraved with her name and year of her presidency.

The incoming and retiring presidents and Mrs. Klyce were also presented by Mrs. Rutherford Gilfillan with original wooden planters containing plants.

During luncheon William Baker explained Marin's first festival of the performing arts set for June 2, 3 and 4 at Dominican.

Mrs. Roy Laugesen, chairman, was assisted with the luncheon by Mesdames John Hurley, Joseph Brewster, Gordon Reynolds, A. L. Bjorklund Jr., John V. Buckley and Roland Kelly.

Mrs. William Bentley, who came up for the day from Patterson, Calif., and Mrs. Otto Weissich presided at the sherry hour preceding luncheon, and greeting guests at the door were Mesdames Stewart Bostwick, Martin Knox and A. A. Hemmerling.

Others assisting were Mesdames Raymond Kopf, T. F. Collison, Fred Bitgood, John Bullock, Robert Andresen and Philip Dolter.

Auxiliary Greets 12 New Members

The recently organized Belvedere Auxiliary of VIA (Volunteers for Institutional Aid) welcomed 12 new members at an al fresco champagne luncheon at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Leon Julian recently.

They are Mesdames John Leahy, Russell Keil, Ernest Peterson, Carl Nelson, C. A. Stevens, Robert H. Greene, J. A. McAlpine, Roger Anawalt, Christopher Rivers Jr., John T. Raisin, George Goddard and Chester C. Vargas.

Plight Of Our Neighbors Told Society By Mrs. James Pike

With their salad luncheon, members and friends of the St. Stephen's Holy Faith Society last week were asked a question: "Who is my neighbor?"

The question was posed by Mrs. James Pike, wife of the Bishop of the Diocese of California, who asked the group in Whittaker Hall, Belvedere, to consider how their Christian faith related them to the world's underprivileged—their "neighbors."

Mrs. Pike spoke particularly of the plight of some 2,500,000 persons still homeless in refugee camps, the victims of World War II and the postwar.

She and her husband toured refugee camps in the Holy Land and Europe, and she told of young people approaching them with the question: "What is wrong with us? Why won't you take us?"

Present U. S. laws, Mrs. Pike said, make refugee families unacceptable in this country if one member of a family suffers from tuberculosis or mental illness.

She cited the cases of other nations which have helped refugees handicapped in this and other ways: Sweden has provided cures, homes and jobs for TB victims, and France and Belgium have given help to the blind.

If you are concerned, she told luncheon guests, write your congressman about U. S. refugee legislation.

If you wish to help refugees already in this country, she suggested, seek them out, offer friendship, get them to come to your church.

There are many facets to neighborliness, she said, emphasizing the contribution women can make by raising their children in Christian ways.

Faith, she said, should give perspective to your concern for your neighbors.

Mrs. Pike, former student of law and the mother of four children, was introduced by Mrs. William Ballard. Mrs. Maurice Glazer, president of the Holy Faith Society, presided at the luncheon .

Leather Pumps

Black smooth leather pumps with needle pointed toes and pencil high slim heels are the spring preference of women, says a survey by students at New York University's School of Retailing. The survey also showed that navy blue is less popular than it was and that bone, lavender and and browns were more important. Patent leather continues to be worn along with shoes of contrasting textures. Many of these have self trims. Others are perforated.

⅓ cup grapefruit juice
1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can cling peach slices
1½ cups peach syrup
2 envelopes plain gelatin
1 cup water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup chili sauce
1 large avocado
crisp salad green

Pare and section grapefruit; squeeze juice from membranes to make ⅓ cup. Drain peaches well reserving 1½ cups syrup. Soften galatin in ½ cup water; add softened gelatin and remaining water to hot peach syrup. Stir in salt, lemon rind and juice, chili sauce and grapefruit juice. Chill until mixture thickens and mounds on a spoon. Cut avocado in half; remove seed. Using a French ball cutter, make avocado balls; or cut avocado into cubes. Fold grapefruit sections, drained peach slices and avocado balls into thickened gelatin mixture. Turn into 1½ quart ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto crisp salad greens to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Lagunitas P-TA Carnival Event Planned June 1

A potpourri of fun is planned by the Lagunitas P-TA for its final event of the year, a Carnival-Playday, to be held at the school on June 1, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Maurice Umphenour, the occasion has been planned for the enjoyment of the entire family and will offer games, a children's fashion show, a veriety program, and of course, food and refreshments.

A picnic-type supper will be served under the direction of Mrs. Ann Switzer, starting at 5 p.m.

School classrooms will be converted into game booths staffed by room mothers where youngsters will find a variety of games of fun and skill suitable to every age and taste. Mrs. Edward Barbano is games chairman.

Starting at 7 p.m., a highlight of the day will be the modeling of home-sewn fashions for children. Sixty girls will participate in this event, and the "Happy Blue Birds" plan to model the muu-mus which they made as a Blue Bird project. Robert Prather will act as commentator.

Cooperating with fashion show chairmen, Mesdames Theodore Van Midde and Jack Von Staden, Mrs. Robert Moore of Lagunitas faculty has arranged a varied program of entertainment to be interspersed throughout the fashion show. Included will be a duet by Alene Tyler and Barbara Simpson, a solo by Janice Padgett; a few numbers by the school orchestra, and an acrobatic dance routine by Starlene Umphenour and Musette Trace.

Mrs. John Strahm will be in charge of tickets, and Mrs. Ted Yates, publicity.

Yolansdale Carnival Planned Saturday

On Saturday the Yolansdale P-TA will sponsor the second annual Spring Carnival on the playground of the school.

The proceeds of the carnival will go toward the purchase of bookshelves for the classrooms and the annual Christmas and Easter treats for the children. Since Yolansdale School includes the fourth grade only, games will be geared to the taste of children 10 years and younger.

The Carnival gates will be open from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Gene Shinabarger is president of the P-TA.

Leather Pumps

Black smooth leather pumps with needle pointed toes and pencil high slim heels are the spring preference of women, says a survey by students at New York University's School of Retailing. The survey also showed that navy blue is less popular than it was and that bone, lavender and and browns were more important. Patent leather continues to be worn along with shoes of contrasting textures. Many of these have self trims. Others are perforated.

San Rafael Has A Twin In Argentina

South American County Seat Has 100,000 Population

By THERON A. NEWELL

The county seat, San Rafael, with its population well in excess of 100,000 people, is the trade center of a rich agricultural area.

This is not a prediction for San Rafael at some future date, but an actual description of San Rafael today.

However, it is not San Rafael, Marin County, Calif. that is being described, but San Rafael, Department of San Rafael, Argentina.

There is a movement on for San Rafael, Calif. to adopt San Rafael, Argentina, as a "sister city." If it does, just what is the Argentine city really like? What do the two cities have in common and how do they differ?

The person here who probably knows more about San Rafael's Argentine namesake than any other is Irving Blabon of 239 Union Street, a student at San Francisco State College. He has been carrying on a correspondence with Edgardo T. Snapasnikoff, a resident of the South American city, for the past two years.

In the course of the exchange of letters, each man has learned a lot about the others' city and the surrounding area. Snapasnikoff writes passable English, but Blabon knows only a little Spanish.

From Snapasnikoff's letters, one learns that San Rafael is the seat of government of the Department of San Rafael in the Province of Mendoza. It is a much larger city, with the latest census listing a population of 116,726.

The Argentine city is in the center of a rich farming area. It is surrounded by orchards of cherries, pears, peaches and plums and vineyards. One of its main industries is fruit processing.

Its climate must be very similar to that of Northern California. The Diamond River runs through the city. Pictures show irrigation canals around the city. Snapasnikoff asks for government publications from this country on how to combat frost. The South American city has hydro-electric power from the streams that flow out of the nearby Andes mountains.

San Rafael, Argentina, has mining too. Among the minerals mined around there are uranium, copper, silver and gold.

Picture postcards sent from our South American namesake show a modern city with modern buildings. The traffic and parking problems do not seem to have hit that city yet.

The correspondence between the two men started when Blabon saw the South American city listed in the Rotarian Magazine in the San Rafael Public Library. He wrote to Adolfo Karzovnik, who was head of Rotary Club in San Rafael, Argentina.

Karzovnik gave the letter to Snapasnikoff. Almost a year elapsed before Blabon received an answer. Snapasnikoff had misplaced the letter, but finally found it.

Snapasnikoff is descended from Russian emmigrants. He is 23 years old, is married and has one child. He works in a furniture store six days a week.

The South American city is composed of people of many nationalities.

The youngsters in San Rafael, Argentina, are rock and roll fans. They like Nat King Cole, Frank Sinatra, Johnny Mathis, Paul Anka, Neil Sedaka and Bing Crosby, according to Snapasnikoff.

Motor scooters are more popular there, however, because cars are too expensive. Snapasnikoff wrote that he had bought a DKW motor scooter.

A "Vineyard Viesta" is held each year in the South American San Rafael. This year, the queen of the fiesta went on to become "Queen of the Province of Mendoza."

The seasons are reversed to ours. Their summer comes during our winter. It is fall there now. The trees are seen as "they strip off the clothes," Snapasnikoff wrote.

The Argentine city also is having trouble with its sudden increase in population. Schools run on shifts there. Children must go four hours a day for nine months, with a three month vacation.

Snapasnikoff asked Blabon to send him an American dictionary because some of the terms which Blabon uses are not in his English dictionary.

One of the terms that he could not find was "freeway."

The two men have exchanged stamps, pictures and newspapers. Blabon received a special 55th anniversary edition of the San Rafael, Argentina, newspaper, and sent Snapasnikoff a 100th anniversary edition of the Independent-Journal.

PARK IN SAN RAFAEL—This is Salto de las Rosas (roses' fall), a popular spot for picnicking and weekend parties for the people of San Rafael — not here in Marin County, but in San Rafael, Argentina. These are among photos sent to Irving Blabon of San Rafael, Calif., by Edgardo T. Sapasnikoff, his correspondent in the South American namesake city.

DOWNTOWN SAN RAFAEL—Wide streets and attractive modern buildings characterize the main business section of the city of San Rafael, Argentina, four times as big as its California namesake. The main street is not Fourth Street but Meitse Avenue.

Fat Man A Problem? Science Is Skeptical

NEW YORK (UPI)—Scientific skepticism threw a great big question mark over the proposition widely accepted in psychological science that the fat man is psychologically different from the lean man.

In what ways? And can they be proved? Asked the skeptics, Drs. Norris Weinberg, Meyer Mendelson and Albert Stunkard. From the scientific literature, they made a list of the differences which psychologists have thought they detected.

The list follows:

1. Fat men are more anxious and they're more disturbed in the neurotic sense than lean men.

2. Fat men think of themselves as more dominant, more conscious of personal status and more self-accepting than other people, but underneath they're weaker and more dependent.

3. Fat men are more conforming intellectually than lean men.

4. Fat men think of their mothers as having been stronger than their fathers.

5. The interests of fat men are more feminine than those of lean men.

Having listed these differences reported by psychologists, they went on to the proof. They took 18 men who were 19 to 60 years old and who were (they reported to the American Psychiatric Assn.) "markedly obese."

By "markedly" they meant their weights percentage-wise ranged from 22 to 78 per cent too much.

These fat men they "matched" with 18 lean men according to age, education level and race.

Then one by one all 36 men were subjected to batteries of psychological tests to find if any, some or all the alleged differences between the fat and the lean existed in them.

Not one did. Furthermore, the scientists said, the tests revealed no other differences —indeed, "no differences of any kind."

The testing was done at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

Their skepticism was aroused first by a "notion" much broader than that of the fat male versus the lean. This is "the notion that certain bodily illnesses occur in persons with specific kinds of personality (which) has been a recurring theme in psychosomatic medicine."

It started with "personality profiles" which were said to stand for specific kinds of illnesses. The list of these personality - illness relationships has now grown into a long one.

"Unfortunately, few of the purported body-mind relationships have been tested and studies carried out with methodical rigor have sometimes not confirmed hypotheses based on clinical impressions."

And so they went to work on the fat man-lean man question.

One Boy Puts His Vow To Be Good In Future Into Writing

Does your son get in trouble at school as many kids do? Has he ever written down his reasons for not being bad again. Maybe he wrote the essay I print below.

It came to me unsigned and I think it is wonderful:

"I will not be bad," he writes laboriously, "because when I am bad, children will look at me and not get their work done. I will not get mine done either. WORK IS IMPORTANT!

"Also when I am bad the teacher gets mad and yells at me. This strains her vocal chords. It is not good for her disposition. It hurts her blood pressure and things.

"Also when I am bad I have to stay after school. I get writer's cramp from writing 'I will be good' 100 times. That is a lot of times.

"I resolve to be good in school, even if it is past New Years. Yes, I will resolve to be good hereafter.

"I also resolve to stop chewing gum, and

"Eating candy, and

"Throwing spitwads, and

"Throwing pencil stubs, and

"Shooting beans in a peashooter, and

"All those other things I done too numerous to mention.

"I PROMISE I WILL NOT BE BAD AGAIN."

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "You said that modern schools taught children to sing creatively. My children go to an elementary school in which almost no singing is taught. I love music. I hate to see this side of their education ignored. What can I do about it?

L.S.

(A) Talk with the principal. He can tell you who else to see. Perhaps you can suggest the appointment of a special music supervisor. My feeling is that the music period should be an important part of the day for every elementary school pupil.

STRUTTING SKILLS—Andree and Donald Jacoby demonstrate the sparkling skills that won them the U. S. Gold Dance championships in 1958 and 1959 during the silver jubilee of the Ice Follies, opening June 14 at Winterland in San Francisco. A pair of free Ice Follies tickets will be given to persons whose names appear in the "Find Your Name" feature starting in the Independent-Journal classified pages Monday—if they find their names. A different name will be listed in the classified section each day.

Ice Follies To Open Silver Jubilee Edition

Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, opening its Silver Jubilee Edition on Wednesday, June 14, at San Francisco's Winterland, is a truly American show with a tangy, international flavor.

This pioneer of professional traveling ice shows began in the United States 25 years ago, when a group of young Minnesota skaters set forth in a rented bus with homemade props and costumes crammed into the back seats.

America loved the Ice Follies, a unique blend of sports and artistry—and more than 50 million patrons have paid to see it.

In its spectacular American success, the Ice Follies has drawn on the talents of the world. The sparkling new Silver Jubilee production stars top skaters from Australia, Canada, England, Scotland, Switzerland, West Germany and the United States.

An appealing new skating personality introduced to American audiences in this year's show is fiery-haired, 20-year-old Ina Bauer, who was three-time amateur women's free ice skating champion of Germany.

Comedian Colin Beatty is English; lovely Lesley Goodwin is Canadian, as are the Meldrum Twins; and Bill Jack, a member of the slapstick Scarecrows team, is Scottish.

Shows will be nightly at 8:30 except Sundays and Mondays. Saturday matinee time is 2:30, and Sunday performances are scheduled at 1:30 and 5:30. There will be a special holiday matinee at 2:30 on the Fourth of July, when there will be no evening show.

Student Employment Rises; Average Pay $1.35 An Hour

Student employment is up in Marin County this year with 51 jobs filled this month compared to 12 during May, 1960, Edwin W. Ayer, state department of employment manager and chairman of the Marin County Youth Employment Committee, reported this morning.

The average wage is $1.35 per hour. Most of the job orders are for a few days work as yard boys. Other job orders were for sample distributors, nursery laborers, counter girls, household helpers and baby sitters.

Ayer pointed out the household helper jobs are the most difficult to fill. "I guess students just don't like housework," he said.

"It also is very difficult to fill baby sitter jobs paying 50 cents an hour. We have been able to fill those paying 75 cents an hour," he said.

Ayer anticipates an increase in the number of student jobs this year. "We are putting in much more work," he said, pointing out members of the Redwood High School Girls' Club and youngsters at juvenile hall are mailing out nearly 300 promotion letters seeking job opportunities each day.

Last year 382 student jobs were filled. Most of these were for a few days work.

Ayer estimated student job seekers will number 1,400 in Marin County this year. Approximately 100 will be seeking permanent full-time jobs.

One Boy Puts His Vow To Be Good In Future Into Writing

Does your son get in trouble at school as many kids do? Has he ever written down his reasons for not being bad again. Maybe he wrote the essay I print below.

It came to me unsigned and I think it is wonderful:

"I will not be bad," he writes laboriously, "because when I am bad, children will look at me and not get their work done. I will not get mine done either. WORK IS IMPORTANT!

"Also when I am bad the teacher gets mad and yells at me. This strains her vocal chords. It is not good for her disposition. It hurts her blood pressure and things.

"Also when I am bad I have to stay after school. I get writer's cramp from writing 'I will be good' 100 times. That is a lot of times.

"I resolve to be good in school, even if it is past New Years. Yes, I will resolve to be good hereafter.

"I also resolve to stop chewing gum, and

"Eating candy, and

"Throwing spitwads, and

"Throwing pencil stubs, and

"Shooting beans in a peashooter, and

"All those other things I done too numerous to mention.

"I PROMISE I WILL NOT BE BAD AGAIN."

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "You said that modern schools taught children to sing creatively. My children go to an elementary school in which almost no singing is taught. I love music. I hate to see this side of their education ignored. What can I do about it?

L.S.

(A) Talk with the principal. He can tell you who else to see. Perhaps you can suggest the appointment of a special music supervisor. My feeling is that the music period should be an important part of the day for every elementary school pupil.

Student Employment Rises; Average Pay $1.35 An Hour

Student employment is up in Marin County this year with 51 jobs filled this month compared to 12 during May, 1960, Edwin W. Ayer, state department of employment manager and chairman of the Marin County Youth Employment Committee, reported this morning.

The average wage is $1.35 per hour. Most of the job orders are for a few days work as yard boys. Other job orders were for sample distributors, nursery laborers, counter girls, household helpers and baby sitters.

Ayer pointed out the household helper jobs are the most difficult to fill. "I guess students just don't like housework," he said.

"It also is very difficult to fill baby sitter jobs paying 50 cents an hour. We have been able to fill those paying 75 cents an hour," he said.

Ayer anticipates an increase in the number of student jobs this year. "We are putting in much more work," he said, pointing out members of the Redwood High School Girls' Club and youngsters at juvenile hall are mailing out nearly 300 promotion letters seeking job opportunities each day.

Last year 382 student jobs were filled. Most of these were for a few days work.

Ayer estimated student job seekers will number 1,400 in Marin County this year. Approximately 100 will be seeking permanent full-time jobs.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

STRUTTING SKILLS—Andree and Donald Jacoby demonstrate the sparkling skills that won them the U. S. Gold Dance championships in 1958 and 1959 during the silver jubilee of the Ice Follies, opening June 14 at Winterland in San Francisco. A pair of free Ice Follies tickets will be given to persons whose names appear in the "Find Your Name" feature starting in the Independent-Journal classified pages Monday—if they find their names. A different name will be listed in the classified section each day.

Ice Follies To Open Silver Jubilee Edition

Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, opening its Silver Jubilee Edition on Wednesday, June 14, at San Francisco's Winterland, is a truly American show with a tangy, international flavor.

This pioneer of professional traveling ice shows began in the United States 25 years ago, when a group of young Minnesota skaters set forth in a rented bus with homemade props and costumes crammed into the back seats.

America loved the Ice Follies, a unique blend of sports and artistry—and more than 50 million patrons have paid to see it.

In its spectacular American success, the Ice Folliles has drawn on the talents of the world. The sparkling new Silver Jubilee production stars top skaters from Australia, Canada, England, Scotland, Switzerland, West Germany and the United States.

An appealing new skating personality introduced to American audiences in this year's show is fiery-haired, 20-year-old Ina Bauer, who was three-time amateur women's free ice skating champion of Germany.

The ever-popular Mr. Frick, whose rubber ankles and cantilever skating stance have created a school of pantomime comedy, is Swiss-born.

Comedian Colin Beatty is English; lovely Lesley Goodwin is Canadian, as are the Meldrum Twins; and Bill Jack, a member of the slapstick Scarecrows team, is Scottish.

Shows will be nightly at 8:30 except Sundays and Mondays. Saturday matinee time is 2:30, and Sunday performances are scheduled at 1:30 and 5:30. There will be a special holiday matinee at 2:30 on the Fourth of July, when there will be no evening show.

Special Meeting Set On Recruiting Donors Of Blood

A master plan for recruitment of donors for the new Marin Blood Center will be presented at a special meeting at the center tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The center, at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is operated by the Irwin Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society.

Mrs. William R. Davies of Terra Linda, chairman of donor recruitment for the citizens' committee, invited community leaders from every area of Marin.

Replacements from the county at the present are only fulfilling half of the blood being used each month by the four local general hospitals, Mrs. Davies said.

The center is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for blood donors. Appointments can be made on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

State Plans Hearing On Water System

The State Public Utilities Commission will reach a decision in about two months on whether the owner of the Inverness Park Water Co. has been operating his system negligently.

James F. Haley, examiner for the PUC, held a hearing in Point Reyes Station Friday on the complaint filed in February by Thomas T. Storer, a Marin County deputy district attorney, acting as a private citizen.

Storer alleged that the water company had been furnishing unfit water to residents of the Pt. Reyes area. He testified yesterday that the water was periodically muddy and cloudy, usually during a rainy period. He also stipulated that in the last two months, after the complaint was filed, the water had become very clear.

William Desmond of the Marin County Health Department Division of Sanitation testified that in December 1960 his department had declared the water unsafe for drinking. The owner, J. J. Downey of San Francisco, was notified of this by letter.

Downey testified that he was not making enough money to maintain the system properly. Storer pointed out that this was not a good defense because Downey could always apply for a rate increase.

Mrs. Frank Short, another customer of the water company, also testified that her water was regularly cloudy and muddy. Adolph Oko, a former user of Inverness Park water, also complained. He is now a user of Point Reyes Station Water System water, a company also owned by Downey.

Downey said he purchased a permanent type chlorinator after he received the health department notice.

Authoress Awarded Silver Medal

A Kentfield authoress will be awarded a silver medal by the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco, for her first novel published last year.

Mrs. Chloe Trimble, who writes under the name Chloe Gartner of 17 Elm Street, will be awarded the medal for her historical novel, "The Infidels," dealing with the First Crusade. The award ceremony will be held on June 6 in the Colonial Ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel.

She is one of four California authors receiving gold and silver literature medals in the 30th annual Commonwealth Club contest.

Mrs. Trimble's book won a silver medal for being one of the best entries regardless of classification.

She is a native of Kansas who settled in the Bay Area to study at the University of California. After taking writing courses at the College of Marin, she joined the staff of the San Francisco Chronicle.

For five years she was an assistant to columnist Stanton Delaplane. At present she is devoting her time to writing a second novel.

Council To Meet

The Mill Valley City Council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the city hall to hold a preliminary discussion on the 1961-62 budget.

FUN IN SHERWOOD FOREST

'Taming Of Shrew' Planned At School

Tamalpais Valley Players will present a special performance "The Taming of the Shrew" Thursday at 8 p.m. in Ruby Scott Auditorium of Tamalpais High School, for Tam High and Edna Maguire School students of Shakespeare.

The "Taming of the Shrew" is one of the two Shakespeare plays to be given in July at the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club hall. The other is "Julius Caesar." Both are directed by Clifford Badger.

Three Tamalpais high students will participate, being already veterans of last year's "Shrew" performances. They are Guy Howard, Don Irving and Barry Walton, playing roles of huntsmen and servants to Petrucchio.

He Learns While He Earns

A NEW ADVENTURE EVERY DAY!

Just last night, Roy Blake said to his Mother: "What I like most about my newspaper business are the new adventures I have every day." Then Roy told about getting Judge Brown for a customer—and learning that he was once a newspaperboy. Another customer is a native of South America, who helps Roy with his beginning Spanish. And just yesterday, Roy obtained as a regular customer Smokey Buchanan, the new strike-out king of the city league.

From his newspaper business Roy Blake is learning how to make friends—something which will be an asset to him the rest of his life. And something which he probably could not learn, as well, in any other activity open to a boy of his age.

State Plans Hearing On Water System

The State Public Utilities Commission will reach a decision in about two months on whether the owner of the Inverness Park Water Co. has been operating his system negligently.

James F. Haley, examiner for the PUC, held a hearing in Point Reyes Station Friday on the complaint filed in February by Thomas T. Storer, a Marin County deputy district attorney, acting as a private citizen.

Storer alleged that the water company had been furnishing unfit water to residents of the Pt. Reyes area. He testified yesterday that the water was periodically muddy and cloudy, usually during a rainy period. He also stipulated that in the last two months, after the complaint was filed, the water had become very clear.

William Desmond of the Marin County Health Department Division of Sanitation testified that in December 1960 his department had declared the water unsafe for drinking. The owner, J. J. Downey of San Francisco, was notified of this by letter.

Downey testified that he was not making enough money to maintain the system properly. Storer pointed out that this was not a good defense because Downey could always apply for a rate increase.

Mrs. Frank Short, another customer of the water company, also testified that her water was regularly cloudy and muddy. Adolph Oko, a former user of Inverness Park water, also complained. He is now a user of Point Reyes Station Water System water, a company also owned by Downey.

Downey said he purchased a permanent type chlorinator after he received the health department notice.

Authoress Awarded Silver Medal

A Kentfield authoress will be awarded a silver medal by the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco, for her first novel published last year.

Mrs. Chloe Trimble, who writes under the name Chloe Gartner, of 17 Elm Street, will be awarded the medal for her historical novel, "The Infidels," dealing with the First Crusade. The award ceremony will be held on June 6 in the Colonial Ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel.

She is one of four California authors receiving gold and silver literature medals in the 30th annual Commonwealth Club contest.

Mrs. Trimble's book won a silver medal for being one of the best entries regardless of classification.

She is a native of Kansas who settled in the Bay Area to study at the University of California. After taking writing courses at the College of Marin, she joined the staff of the San Francisco Chronicle.

For five years she was an assistant to columnist Stanton Delaplane. At present she is devoting her time to writing a second novel.

Special Meeting Set On Recruiting Donors Of Blood

A master plan for recruitment of donors for the new Marin Blood Center will be presented at a special meeting at the center tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The center, at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is operated by the Irwin Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society.

Mrs. William R. Davies of Terra Linda, chairman of donor recruitment for the citizens' committee, invited community leaders from every area of Marin.

Replacements from the county at the present are only fulfilling half of the blood being used each month by the four local general hospitals, Mrs. Davies said.

The center is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for blood donors. Appointments can be made on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Council To Meet

The Mill Valley City Council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the city hall to hold a preliminary discussion on the 1961-62 budget.

'Taming Of Shrew' Planned At School

Tamalpais Valley Players will present a special performance "The Taming of the Shrew" Thursday at 8 p.m. in Ruby Scott Auditorium of Tamalpais High School, for Tam High and Edna Maguire School students of Shakespeare.

The "Taming of the Shrew" is one of the two Shakespeare plays to be given in July at the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club hall. The other is "Julius Caesar." Both are directed by Clifford Badger.

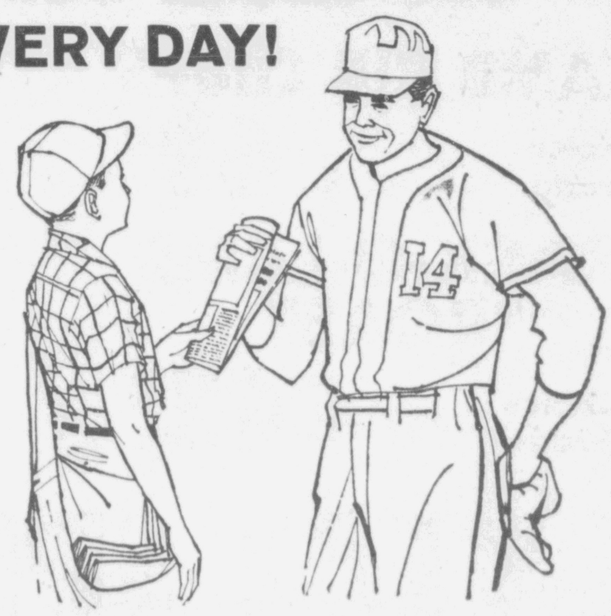

Three Tamalpais high students will participate, being already veterans of last year's "Shrew" performances. They are Guy Howard, Don Irving and Barry Walton, playing roles of huntsmen and servants to Petrucchio.

He Learns While He Earns

A NEW ADVENTURE EVERY DAY!

Just last night, Roy Blake said to his Mother: "What I like most about my newspaper business are the new adventures I have every day." Then Roy told about getting Judge Brown for a customer—and learning that he was once a newspaperboy. Another customer is a native of South America, who helps Roy with his beginning Spanish. And just yesterday, Roy obtained as a regular customer Smokey Buchanan, the new strike-out king of the city league.

From his newspaper business Roy Blake is learning how to make friends—something which will be an asset to him the rest of his life. And something which he probably could not learn, as well, in any other activity open to a boy of his age.
